Total Loss on Four Buildings $7,000; Peter Verigin on Prairies

Nelson, B.C., April 22.—A total loss of $7000 is estimated for the three Doukhobor schools and the residence of Peter Verigin, burned yesterday morning on the Kootenay River below Nelson.

All four buildings, the residence and the school at Brilliant and the two schools in the Ootshenia Colony on the opposite side of the river, caught fire at practically the same time, an hour or two after midnight, and the police are working on the theory that a group of incendiaries operated.

Peter Verigin, president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, is at present on the prairies.

Tokio Paper Says U.S. Decision Influencing Russo-Japanese Negotiations

Indications of Smoother Development of Discussion in Progress in Peking

Tokio, April 22.—Resolutions protesting against the proposed exclusion of Japanese from the United States and appealing to the American people not to permit enactment of the immigration bill into law were passed at mass meetings held in Osaka and Nagoya to-day.

The Yomouri Shimbun, considered one of the mildest of Tokio newspapers, to-day professed to see a reaction from the immigration controversy in the progress of the Russo-Japanese negotiations at Peking, where Japanese Minister Yoshizawa and L. M. Karakhan, Soviet representative in the Far East, are conferring.

"Since the demonstration of unfriendliness by the United States Senate, the impression has become rooted in every Japanese heart that the United States is not Japan's friend," the publication states. "Whether due to this impression or not, it is undeniable that the Russo-Japanese negotiations at Pekin show signs of smooth development.

"This turn in the situation is generally regarded as heralding a reorientation of Japanese diplomacy in the near future."

EX-CONGRESSMAN DIED IN VANCOUVER

J. S. Fassett of Elmira, N.Y., Had Just Arrived From the Orient

Vancouver, April 22.—J. Sloat Fassett, of Elmira, N.Y., a former representative in the Congress of the United States, died here suddenly last night. Mr. Fassett had arrived here from the Orient on board the steamship Empress of Russia during the afternoon and about six o'clock he was suddenly stricken, expiring almost immediately.

It is understood the body will be forwarded to Elmira to-morrow.

Heart failure was given as the cause of his death. He had not been ill during the voyage on the Empress of Russia and was apparently in the best of health when he stepped off the ship here yesterday afternoon.

TALKED WITH REPORTERS

A few hours before his sudden death he chatted with reporters on various topics, expressing the opinion that it was folly to talk about independence for the Philippines at the present time.

Mr. Fassett's death, which was not generally known until to-day, was quite unexpected, and was a severe blow to his wife, who had accompanied him on the tour of the Orient, where he had large interests. One of the largest sacks of mail ever received here for an individual was waiting for him at the Vancouver Hotel.

Howard Carter In Suit Against Wembley Directors

London, April 22.—Further litigation has been started in connection with the discovery of Tutankhamen's Tomb, according to The Daily Express, which says a writ was served yesterday at Howard Carter's instance upon the directors of the British Empire Exhibition at Wembley for alleged violation of his copyrights through the erection of a model of the tomb as a side show on the exhibition grounds.

The model was constructed by the sculptor, William Aunonier, and the Egyptologist, Arthur Weigall, who deny their reproductions of the tomb and its contents in wood and plaster were based on Carter's photographs.

The case is to be heard after Whitsuntide. Meanwhile the model will be opened to the public as advertised.

WILL RUN FOR YALE RIDING; DR. J. D. MacLEAN

Spence's Bridge, B.C., April 22.—Hon. J. D. MacLean, Minister of Education and Provincial Secretary, was unanimously nominated as Liberal candidate at a convention held here last night for the Yale riding.

When nominations were called, no other name being mentioned, Dr. MacLean was accorded an ovation.

Dr. MacLean is accepting nomination in Yale because his present constituency of Greenwood has been wiped out by the new Redistribution Bill. A number of Interior constituencies offered him nominations on account of his splendid administrative record. Dr. MacLean is well known throughout the Interior and it was his interest in the problems of the Interior districts that caused him to reject strong proposals that he run in Vancouver or Victoria.

Liberals of Yale riding assert that Dr. MacLean will win a sweeping victory in his new constituency when the next provincial election is held.

SOVIET IS PLANNING NORTH POLE FLIGHT

Nansen is Expected to be Member of Party Aeroplane Will Carry

Soviet Red Flag Wireless Message to All Countries if Flight Success

Moscow, April 22.—Soviet Russia's decision to send an aerial expedition to the North Pole has fired popular imagination in Russia. The Bolsheviki expect their airmen to plant the Red Flag of Revolution at the Pole before the end of the Summer.

Commander Rossinski, who will lead the expedition, says a number of scientists, explorers and airmen are anxious to follow Dr. Fridtjof Nansen's example and participate in the adventure. Rossinski asserted today that a properly designed aeroplane with four motors and powerful wireless equipment, which is now nearing completion in Philadelphia, will be brought to Nova Zembla, on the Kara Sea, where Nansen and the other participants will assemble.

SEVEN DAYS AT POLE

The expedition expects to start in September and to remain at the Pole seven days. As soon as the Pole is reached a radio message will be sent out to all observatories and radio stations in Europe and the United States to verify the accuracy of the calculation that the expedition is at the Pole.

The following message will then be transmitted throughout the world: "Workers of the entire world: Arise, the Red Flag of Revolution floats at the top of the world."

Son of Postmistress in Liverpool Killed by Thugs During Holdup

London, April 22 (Canadian Press Cable)—Strong comment on an adverse nature was made at a conference here to-day of postal workers with regard to the ignoring by the Post Office Department of the bravery of two girl assistants in the recent Liverpool post office holdup. The son of the postmistress was killed in the holdup, during which the girls showed great bravery. The department allowed £34 for funeral expenses, but did not acknowledge any further responsibility in the matter, it is claimed, and did not even formally recognize representations made with regard to the courage of the two girls.

WHEN REPARATIONS SETTLEMENT IS FIRMLY ESTABLISHED TIME WILL BE FAVORABLE FOR DISARMAMENT CONFERENCE, SAYS COOLIDGE

ACCEPTS INVITATION

Mayor Hayward has received a cablegram from Wellington, N.Z., from Vice-Admiral Sir F. L. Field, commanding the British Special Service Squadron, accepting the invitation for the Navy League luncheon at noon on June 23.

Only Inadequate Results Probable Under Present Conditions, He Says, But Changed Outlook Should Be Found in Near Future; Codification of International Law an Achievement Desired, He Declares at Associated Press Luncheon

New York, April 22.—President Coolidge announced in an address at the annual luncheon of the Associated Press here today that with firm establishment of a settlement of the German reparations question he would favor steps looking toward the calling of another world conference to consider further limitation of armaments and the codification of international law.

Disclaiming any ability to announce a formula that would guarantee the peace of the world, the President declared there were, however, certain definite things which should be done to relieve the world "of much of the burden of military armaments and diminish the probability of military operations."

"The Washington Conference did a great deal to restore harmony and goodwill among the nations," the President said. "Another purpose of the conference was the further limitation of competitive armaments. Much remains to be accomplished in that direction.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

"It would appear to be impracticable to attempt action under present conditions, but with a certain and definite settlement of the reparations problem firmly established, I should favor the calling of a similar conference to achieve such limitations of armaments and initiate plans for a codification of international law, should preliminary inquiries disclose that such a proposal would meet with a sympathetic response."

The United States, the President said, stands in a position to take the lead in such an additional move toward world peace because "our position is such that we are trusted and our business institutions and Government considered to be worthy of confidence."

WORK OF EXPERTS

The President hailed the work of the reparations experts' committees as unsurpassed in importance by anything that had transpired since the armistice and declared there appeared "to be every reason to hope that the report offers a basis for a practical solution of reparations problem."

"I trust it may commend itself to all the European Governments interested as a method by which, through mutual concessions, they can arrive at a stable adjustment of the intricate problems of reparations and that such an outcome will provide for the restoration of Germany and the largest possible payments to other countries," he added. Pointing out that the proposal contemplates an immediate loan to Germany for pressing needs and for financing a bank, he expressed the hope that private capital in the United States would be willing to participate in the making of such a loan.

FUNDS FOR PEACE

"Sound business reasons exist why we should participate in the financing of the work of peace in Europe, though we have repeatedly asserted we were not in favor of advancing funds for any military purpose," he continued. "It would benefit our trade and commerce, and we especially hope it will provide a large market for our agricultural production.

HUMANITARIAN APPEAL

"Besides this there is the humanitarian requirement, which carries such a strong appeal, and the knowledge that out of our abundance it is our duty to help where help will be used for meeting just requirements and the promotion of a peaceful purpose."

The President revealed his endorsement of a world court of international justice.

U.S. INQUIRIES

The President asserted war conditions had left "a trail of vicious and criminal selfishness." Then turning to the revelations of the United States Senate investigations without mentioning them specifically, he continued:

"From all of this sordidness the affairs of government, of course, suffered. In some of it a few public officers were guilty participants, but the wonder is not that this was so much or they so many, but rather that it has been so little and they so few. The encouraging thing at present is the evidence of a well-nigh complete return to normal methods of action and a sane public opinion. The gravity of guilt of this kind is fully realized and publicly reprehended. There is a healthy disposition to uproot it altogether and administer punishment wherever competent evidence of guilt can be produced. That I am doing and propose to continue."

MUST NOW MAKE FINAL DECISION

Fire Department Hours of Labor Issue Comes to Crisis

Lower Mainland Municipalities Have Faced Issue in Two Ways

The time has now come when the City Council will be called upon to decide on the operation of the Fire Departments Hours of Labor Act. It is understood the withdrawal of men to give the one day off in seven will entail the closing of No. 8 hall, Duchess Street, the only one from which the city gets a revenue from an outside municipality, and the abolition of an engine company at headquarters.

The fire chief has already voiced an emphatic warning against the effect of closing more district halls on fire insurance rates.

Victoria will thus be forced reluctantly to fall in line with the policy of passive resistance adopted by the lower mainland municipalities to which the act also applies, which has taken either the form of closing district halls, or else of laying off men from call duty, to keep them in reserve for use in the new hours of employment. Vancouver has taken the course against the chief's advice of reducing its available fire fighting force, while New Westminster has closed Sapperton and West End fire halls, thus centralizing its department in one hall.

The loss of Oak Bay's contribution to the city will be one immediate result, the other apparently will be some ultimate effect on fire insurance rates. Estimates of up to $50,000 extra in premiums per annum have been made in connection with the latter suggestion.

Poincare and Reparations President Discuss Methods to Follow With Germany

Paris, April 22.—Louis Barthou, president of the Reparations Commission, had a long talk to-day with Premier Poincare concerning the methods of procedure in putting into effect the programme outlined by the reparations experts.

They agreed that it is for the Reparations Commission to proceed first with the organization as far as the commission's jurisdiction goes, after which the interested Governments will deliberate on the points they must decide.

The Premier's letter to M. Barthou stating the acceptance by the French Government of the expert's report as a basis for a new reparation settlemen will not be issued for publication, it is said in official circles.

Tulsa, Okla., April 22.—Frederick L. Thornton, certified public accountant, who made an audit of the estate of the late Jake L. Hamon, Republican National Committeeman from Oklahoma, before and after his death, denied to-day that Hamon had contributed $1,000,000 toward the nomination of Warren G. Harding for the presidency of the United States as charged in testimony before the Senate oil investigating committee. He said Hamon's campaign contribution in 1920 did not exceed $100,000.

White, Former Minister Of Finance, Witness at The Home Bank Inquiry

Toronto, April 22.—In the Home Bank investigation counsel should have been arranged for to represent various successive Federal Ministers of Finance, in the opinion of Sir Thomas White, Minister of Finance from 1911 to 1919, given in his evidence to-day before Mr. Justice H. A. McKeown acting as a Royal Commissioner inquiring into the bank's affairs prior to the suspension of that institution last August.

Sir Thomas White produced a heavy dossier of hitherto unpublished personal and confidential letters, memoranda and documents from the files of the Department of Finance during his term as Minister. These had been turned over to him after the suspension of the bank, he said, by his former private secretary, who had regarded them as private, although Sir Thomas himself had intended them for the use of the department after he left. On his departure for Rio de Janeiro last February, Sir Thomas said he left these documents with Sir Edward Kemp, to be made available for the information of Parliament if called for. He was under the impression when leaving Toronto that it was not the intention of the Government to appoint a Royal Commission.

HUNDREDS OF TEACHERS OF BRITISH COLUMBIA ARE AT CONVENTION IN VANCOUVER

The presidential address this morning by Mr. Ferguson was a business-like presentation of the affairs of the federation, its accomplishments during the past year and its aspirations for 1924.

2,000 MEMBERS

Of approximately 3,000 teachers in the Province, fully 2,000 are now members of the Federation. In time the organization hopes to include nearly 100 per cent. of the teachers within its ranks.

The financial statement shows receipts of $21,734 for the fiscal year ended February 29 and disbursements of $18,586.

H. C. Newland of Edmonton, president of the Canadian Teachers' Federation, will address the convention on Thursday.

Only one controversial subject is expected to come before the gathering, that pertaining to Bible reading in the schools. This will likely be debated at the Wednesday morning session.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTES

The federation has always been of the opinion that all bodies interested in education in British Columbia should meet in convention at the same time, in the same city, each holding its own gathering and uniting for general sessions. To this end invitations have always been extended to other organizations to meet with the teachers. The parent-teachers have done so on two former occasions and now the Women's Institutes of British Columbia are meeting in Vancouver. Their delegates will attend the teachers' public meetings and will be welcomed at any of the joint meetings.

Chicago, April 22.—A rule requiring the employment of railway telegraphers in the operation of automatic printers was upheld yesterday by the United States Railroad Labor Board in a decision disposing of rules in dispute on twenty-two roads. Most of the disputes were decided favorably to the employees. The decision affecting automatic printers applies on the Southern Pacific only, where the rule was in dispute.

Mrs. Murray Hough, Wiarton, Ont., writes:

"I had eczema for twelve years. Every once in a while it would break out and spread all over my arms. I tried all kinds of treatments to relieve it, but without success. One Spring it broke out and nothing gave me relief, even the salve I got from the doctor did no good. At last I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment and it healed the eczema in a short time. That is over a year ago, and I have had no return of the trouble."

LLOYD GEORGE WARNS LABORITES

Asks Party in Power in Britain to be Less Hostile Toward Liberals

Llanfair-Fechan, Wales, April 22.—There is no revolt in the Liberal Party against the leadership of Herbert Asquith, former Premier Lloyd George declared in an address to-day, but there is a revolt, he asserted, "against the humiliating position under which the Liberal Party is expected to keep in power a government that has never concealed its hostility toward the party."

"We are told," he said, "that there is not to be an election for two or three years. Meanwhile the Liberals are to be dragged like oxen by Labor over the rough roads of Parliament and at the end they are to be slaughtered."

The former Premier asserted the MacDonald Government had dissipated the stock of goodwill of those who had put it in office, and added: "But no self-respecting party can go on supporting a government that has treated it in the way Labor has treated the Liberal Party."

He concluded by asking the Labor Party to reconsider its attitude of the last three months before it "was too late."

HOPES TO COLLECT $20,000,000 SUM

Dishwasher of Albany, N.Y., Goes to Share in Big Washington, D.C., "Rent"

Albany, N.Y., April 22.—Robert F. Springer, known to patrons of an Albany lunch room as "Smilin' Bob," dishwasher, has quit his job and last night was aboard a train bound for Wilmington, Del., to collect $20,000,000 as his share of litigation against the City of Washington for land upon which that municipality is built.

The land lease, according to Springer, dated back to the 18th Century, and was executed by his great - grandfather, Christopher Springer. Two sisters and a brother, a Supreme Court justice in the West, Springer said, will divide the rent money, $80,000,000 in all, with him.

Springer said that when the "rent" was collected he expected to return to Albany and "give all the boys in the lunchroom a good blowout." Then he will go West, buy a ranch and "live his life."

He is a veteran of the Philippine Expedition and was formerly a rancher.

Ancient Greeks Had Thrillers on Athenian Stage

Oedipus Rex is Remarkable Example of Sophoclean Drama

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

Dramatic Editor Boston American

The thrillers of the drama, whether handed down from centuries long dead or dished up in the flashiest of Avery Hapwood's 1923 style, rest upon a common foundation, with perhaps the slight difference that our own best "shockers" are not so openly shocking as those of earlier pattern. We have had modern thrillers that raised the hair and chased chills down the spine—and yet were bloodless in the eye of the spectator. Judging the taste of playgoers in Sophocles' time, as viewed through Sir John Martin-Harvey's illuminating performance of "Oedipis Rex," when blood was spilled in the interest of ancient art, everybody must have wanted front seats and no off-stage stuff. And the patrons of those roofless Greek playhouses got exactly what they demanded.

ANCIENT DRAMA HAD KICK

No matter how "Oedpis Rex" may strike the average theatregoer as an artistic contribution to the present-day theatre, there is no getting away from the single item of interest that it sets a fast pace in strong-armed entertainment. Twenty-five centuries of practice in devising ghastly situations and theatrical novelty has not developed anything with higher power than Sophocles tossed blithely into "Oedipus Rex." That Sir John Martin-Harvey has succeeded in arousing an interest in a seldon presented play is a noteworthy achievement; that he has kept faith with ancient Greek tradition may be accepted as a fact when you have such an authority as Professor Charles E. Gulick, of the Department of Greek Literature at Harvard, to lead you in your lessons. Hard-fisted reviewers do not always agree with the professors of the drama as you find them in our best-conducted universities, but Professor Gulick's endorsement of Sir John carries a ring of sincerity that can hardly be evaded.

"Without pretending to understand the technique of acting," writes Professor Gulick, "I was impelled to wonder how a modern actor could have read himself so sincerely and so deeply into the Greek spirit as to maintain throughout the even classic of power in restraint. He brought vividly before us the picture of a king's son, borne to adventure yet not an adventurer, whose fate was determined, as the decalogue tells us many fates are determined, by the iniquities of his fathers. The effect on the audience was particularly interesting, reminding me of the performance of the Agamemmon in the Harvard Stadium in 1906. Not a cough, not a sneeze, not a rustle. For two hours the audience was held motionless. It is easy enough to criticize the archaeological details in a modern revival of an ancient classic. But Sophocles was not an archaeologist, and the fifth century dramatist would not have bothered himself or his manager about the exact reproduction of the costumes and properties belonging to the legendary king. Even here, however, the performance was thoroughly satisfying, Jocasta's dress and headgear recalling the lovely statutes in the Acropilis museum. It was a distinct pleasure to have the structure of a Greek drama recognized and reproduced with such understanding.

FROCK COATS SEEN AGAIN IN MOSCOW

Soviet Statesmen Change Their Garb as Foreign Invasion Grows

Moscow, April 22.—British, Italian and Norwegian recognition has put Moscow back into the top hat market.

Bolshevik diplomatists who, prior to the Genoa conference, were content to wear soft shirts and trousers baggy at the knees, turned to white collars for official purposes only when the first trade missions arrived from western Europe, but they could hardly then have been called a fashionable lot.

With the coming to Moscow, however, of European diplomats with all the sartorial traditions of their profession, those employees of the Soviet Foreign Office who have to deal with such perfectly tailored emissaries blossomed out in frock coats and all their accompaniments.

One member of Commissar George Tchitcherin's staff, whose post might be compared with that of master of ceremonies, has to wear most of the clothes. He is M. Florinsky, once Russian Vice-consul in New York under the Czar regime. M. Florinsky is a very busy man. He holds the responsible post of head of the Scandinavian division of the Foreign Office and in addition has to meet the trains and welcome incoming Ambassadors and other persons of importance.

Some of the old dyed-in-the-wool proletarian Communists are publicly objecting to Bolsheviks in top hats. One Moscow newspaper conducted a series of debates on the subject, in which M. Litvinoff, Deputy Commissar for Foreign Affairs, and numerous Soviet Ambassadors abroad participated.

ACCORDING TO CUSTOM

The subject was what sort of a uniform should a Bolshevik diplomat wear at a foreign court. The ruling impression was that they should wear whatever simple court clothes were required by the customs of the court to which they were assigned.

The views of Lenine on this subject were quoted at length. His idea on this, as on almost everything else, was that Bolsheviks should do in Rome as the Romans do. It was recalled that once, when M. Joffe complained that he did not want to go to the German Kaiser's court and wear knee breeches, Lenine said to him: "Oh! Wear petticoats if you have to. The main thing is to get to court."

Most of the Bolshevik emissaries abroad were reared to a frock coat existence, only abandoning it when they became converts to Bolshevism. They tucked their dinner jackets and other fashionable regalia into their trunks with moth balls to preserve them until it became Bolshevik fashion, too, to wear white collars again.

UNITED EFFORTS NEEDED IN JAPAN

Governor of Bank Speaks of Country's Problem of Rehabilitation

Foundation of Industries Not Disturbed by Great Earthquake

Tokio, April 22.—The great difficulties of Japan's economic situation were outlined by Otohiko Ichiki, governor of the Bank of Japan, in an address before the annual meeting of the bank in Tokio.

Mr. Ichiki, after reviewing Japan's year of disaster, 1923, drew a not very hopeful picture of the future. "In this difficult situation," he said, "it is of utmost importance that united efforts be made by the Government and people for the economic rehabilitation of the country and the development of our overseas trade in the same spirit of fortitude shown in the time of the earthquake calamity."

IMPORTS EXCEED EXPORTS

"It is four years since Japan began to pass through the post-war depression. The preceding period of prosperity had left a crop of economic abuses, which persisted up to the time of the disaster. To make matters worse, in our foreign trade, which is of vital importance to us, imports had already greatly exceeded exports during the first eight months of the year, and moreover the importation of a large amount of reconstruction materials had to be anticipated. The prospect of the export trade, on the other hand, gives but moderate hope, for, excepting the United States and Great Britain, all the occidental countries are so deeply involved in economic and political chaos that there is little hope for a recovery of business, while, with China, the South Seas, India and Australia, no great or immediate expansion of our export trade can be expected."

SHOCK TO BUSINESS

Mr. Ichiki recounted the measures taken by the bank, the Government's principal financial organ, to deal with the earthquake emergency, and of the direct effects of the earthquake he said: "Never before in our history has such a calamity been recorded. Yet, if we survey the whole country we see that the foundation of our industries was in no way disturbed. However, the damage inflicted on the capital was so terrible that the whole country was aghast; transportation and communications were out of gear; all sorts of rumors were in the air; every kind of business suffered a dreadful shock, the effects of which spread throughout the country. Of the eighty-four member banks of the Tokio Association, seventy-six lost their main offices in the conflagration. The monetary machinery almost ceased to function; the flow of money was stopped and trade blocked. The moratorium proclaimed in this emergency effectually warded off the storm that threatened to follow withdrawals of bank deposits. After the moratorium, however, things were quieter even than we had hoped, and there was almost a lull in the money market."

GRADUAL RECOVERY

Mr. Ichiki then described the gradual recovery of the monetary system of the country, and other features of the economic history of 1923 to which he drew attention were:

The rise in prices following the earthquake; from an index of 200 in August, prices rose to a general level of 222 in October and for the rest of the year showed practically no tendency to drop.

BALANCE OF TRADE

The adverse balance of trade; exports for 1923 totaled 1,447,000,000 yen, and imports 1,983,000,000, a balance against Japan of 534,000,000. Owing to the destruction of stocks of raw silk at Yokohama by the earthquake and fire, the year's exports of silk were fifteen per cent less than for 1922. Imports were greatly increased by post earthquake demands for building materials and necessities of various kinds.

The decrease in national specie holdings abroad; the resources of the exchange banks ran so short, especially after the earthquake, as a result of the unfavorable trade balance, that during the year the Government and the Bank of Japan together had to let go 287,000,000 yen of their gold holdings abroad.

LARKIN MENTIONED FOR APPOINTMENT

Old Country Paper Says He May be Canadian Minister to United States

London, April 22. (Canadian Press Cable.)—Discussing the question of the appointment of a Canadian representative at Washington, the London editor of The Yorkshire Post says:

"Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, before coming to London was invited by the Canadian Government to go to Washington as the official representative of his country in the United States capital. He declined the position then, but probably will receive the appointment if the King Government is returned to power after the next general election."

Mr. Larkin's knowledge of semi-diplomatic matters gained here would make his appointment most suitable, The Post says.

Edmonton, April 21.—More than 500 Rotarians and their wives concluded the first day's programme of the seventh annual conference of District 4 of International Rotary here last night with a dinner and ball.

Presidents and secretaries of Rotary Clubs throughout the district discussed matters pertaining to administration of Rotary during the afternoon.

At the same time six round-table conferences were proceeding, when the various groups discussed suggestions and views on the furtherance of boys' work, fellowship, public affairs and business methods, a specialist in each particular branch being the presiding officer.

During the various sessions of the day, several internationally famous speakers were heard, including Premier Greenfield of Alberta; James W. Davidson, District Governor; Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the University of Alberta; Frank Lamb, vice-president of the International Rotary, and Dr. H. W. Hurt, president of the Boy Workers' Association, of America.

HOME BANK INQUIRY

One of the letters put in by Sir Thomas White as an exhibit was from Hon. T. A. Crerar, on behalf of the Western Canadian directors of the Home Bank, under date of March 20, 1916. In this letter Mr. Crerar gave the opinion that consequent upon arrangements being made with the bank, "the situation has materially improved within the past month and at this juncture, with the changes in management recently made, it is better to have the inquiry proceed from within rather than from without."

This letter was delivered to Sir Thomas by the late Z. A. Lash, counsel for the Home Bank, and Sir Thomas replied that he was glad to have Mr. Crerar's assurance that the situation had materially improved.

INFORMATION FURNISHED

Correspondence indicated that in October, 1913, Sir Thomas demanded various supplementary information to the report furnished the department by the Home Bank directors, and this was furnished after some delay owing to the illness of Colonel Cooper Mason, general manager.

G. T. Clarkson, the liquidator, who was also a witness this morning, produced a letter under date of June 14, 1917, from Hon. T. A. Crerar, as a director, to M. J. Haney, president of the bank, disapproving the appointment of Colonel J. Cooper Mason as general manager. Mr. Crerar said such an appointment could not have been seriously considered. He would be glad to co-operate, he wrote, provided there was no attempt to appoint Colonel Mason. Sometime later Mr. Crerar resigned from the directorate.

DEFICIT OF $9,000,000

Mr. Clarkson said the liabilities of the bank would exceed the assets by from $9,000,000 to $9,500,000.

All dividends paid after 1915 had been paid out of capital. The loss of the bank on fresh advances after May 1, 1916, amounted to $4,500,000.

PROFITS OVERSTATED

In 1922, the year previous to the suspension of the Home Bank, the profits of the institution were overstated by $800,000 in the report to the Federal Government, according to Mr. Clarkson

In 1921 the profits were "padded by $155,000," said Mr. Clarkson.

The excess of $9,000,000 of liabilities over assets which exists at present, said the liquidator, was in addition to the loss of capital and reserve which had been wiped out.

LOAN NOT REPAID

Mr. Clarkson said T. L. O'Connor, who was secretary to President Daly, borrowed $130,000 from the bank. This had never been returned.

DECLARES EXTREMISTS SHOULD BE ROUTED

Toronto, April 22.—Controller R. H. Cameron declares the police authorities should take action to suppress the open Bolshevik propaganda that is now being carried on to influence the minds of the unemployed and looking to a revolution in this country.

"They have brought here imported speakers," he said, "showing pictures of scenes during the French and the Russian revolutions, and advising the workers to get ready for the revolution which is bound to take place. I think that sort of thing should be prohibited.

"I understand," continued Controller Cameron, "that we have five or six different places in the city where children have to kiss the red flag, where our religion is flouted and where Christ is held up to ridicule.

"That sort of thing should not be allowed to go on."

If it's Valuable It's Advertisable

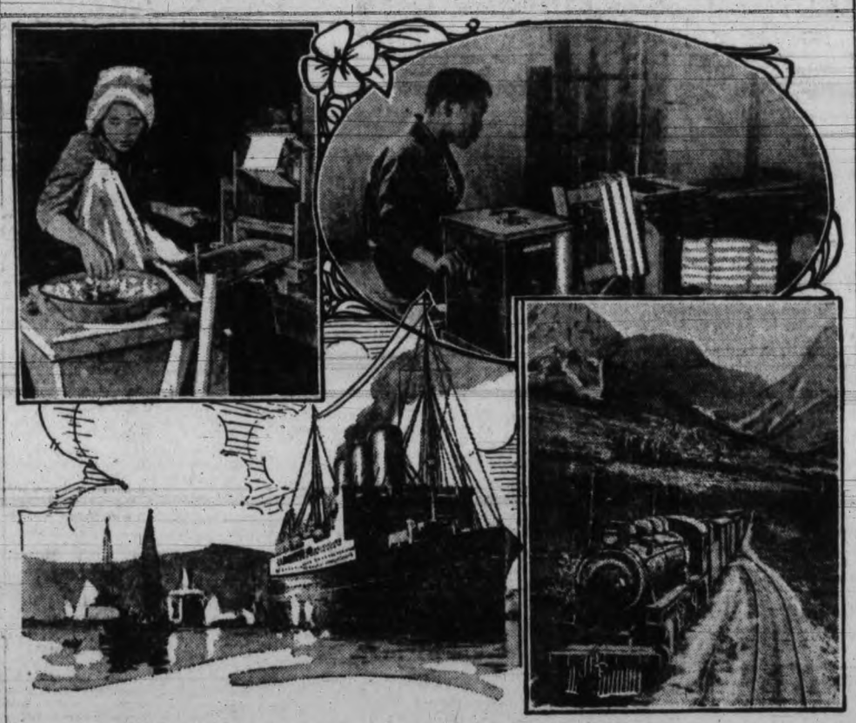

New furniture, for the home or for the office or place of business, displaces the old—sometimes the almost new.

What to do with used things is a classified advertising problem. A For Sale or Exchange advertisement makes it possible for you to realize the cash values of such things—either in cash, or in other things which you may need.

These For Sale ads have a peculiar interest to people—for they often show opportunities to secure needed things, good as new, at bargain prices.

Make your offer attractive and you'll find your market.

Stolen Eggs and the Silk Trade

Above—Reeling silk in the Flowery Kingdom. Below—An Empress liner loading silk at Yokohama and a Canadian Pacific silk special passing through the Rockies.

Production of silk dates far into antiquity, and for ages the manner of its production was kept secret. Up to the sixth century A.D. all raw silk was imported into Europe from China, but the Byzantine Emperor Justinian induced two monks to travel into China to procure silk worm eggs and though the export of them was punishable by death, these monks succeeded in bringing back a quantity concealed in the hollows of their pilgrims staves.

From Byzantium, silk cultivation spread into Greece and Syria, thence into Spain, and thence successively into Sicily, Naples, Northern Italy and France, being established in Italy in the sixteenth century.

Various determined attempts have been made, principally between the years 1622 and 1839 to establish the silk industry in America, resulting at one time in a not inconsiderable production, but the excessive cost of the labor involved in the rearing of the worms and in the reeling of the raw silk from the cocoons as compared with the trifling cost of such labor in Europe and Asia, has rendered it impossible to produce raw silk at commercial prices on this continent.

Most of the silk imported to America comes from Japan, Italy and China where, also, the humidity of the atmosphere contributes no little to the success of the industry in those countries. The greatest importation is from the Flowery Kingdom, and this mostly in the raw-silk form as it is reeled from the cocoons.

Silk is valuable. In one consignment of a few hundred bales, hundreds of thousands of dollars are tied up, and for this reason, that no time may be lost in making up the raw material and placing the finished goods upon the market, the product of the little silk worm is given transportation facilities which few other commodities enjoy. The bales of skeins are stowed carefully in the vessels which transport them across the Pacific, and in such a manner that they can be speedily and safely discharged upon arrival at the Canadian or American port. No time is lost. Special trains made up of passenger baggage equipment await the arrival of the vessel if it docks at Vancouver as do the Empress liners of the Canadian Pacific, and once the valuable cargo has been sealed into the cars the train proceeds towards its destination, often making better time than the regular passenger trains.

For the reason that the route is more direct, many silk dealers in New York, where much of the silk is destined, consign their shipments via Canada and during the past few months many interesting time records have been made over Canadian Pacific lines.

On March 22nd, the "Empress of Asia" sailed from Yokohama carrying the largest consignment of silk to be forwarded from the Orient for some time. The silk was specially stowed for prompt discharge on arrival at Vancouver, and from the time the steamer docked, until the special train to New York left, there was a lapsed time of only thirteen and one-half minutes per car.

The silk was delivered in New York about midnight April 4th, the through time from Yokohama to New York being 13 days, 8 hours, and 13 minutes, calendar time. This constituted a record run as far as freight traffic is concerned, but passenger traffic is handled as readily by this company, a 21 day Europe to Orient service via St. John, N.B., or the St. Lawrence route being regularly maintained.

INCOME RULING FOR MINISTERS

Federal Assessment of Parsonages For Taxation to Be Less

Toronto, April 22.—Rev. S. W. Dean, secretary of the department of finance of the Methodist Church, has sent out a circular letter to Methodist ministers notifying them that the Finance Department of the Federal Government has made a concession to income assessments. Hereafter the amount to be charged for parsonages will be fifteen per cent of the ministers' salaries and will not be based upon the actual value of the properties. The arrangement will not apply to General Conference officers and other ministers who receive a stated sum to cover house expenses and who are expected to include the total allowance voted for that purpose in making out their income returns to the Government.

A minister will be allowed to deduct each year for depreciation of his library ten per cent of its original value. He is not required to include in his income fees received for weddings, the understanding being that such amounts are paid to the minister's wife.

The concession as to parsonages was due to recognition of the fact that many ministers are required to maintain parsonages which are much larger and of considerably greater property value than they would require.

San Francisco, April 22.—Miss Mildred Muller was awarded damages of $118,000, said to be the largest ever given in the United States for personal injuries, by a jury in superior court here yesterday in her suit against the Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company, controlling owners of the Union Traction Company of Santa Cruz.

Miss Muller was struck by a street car July 21, 1921, and received injuries which she claims have doomed her to spend the remainder of her days in a wheel chair.

EXCAVATORS MAKE FIND AT JERUSALEM

Discovery of Trench Carries History Back 500 Years Beyond Last Previous Mark

Professor Stewart McAllister Says it Formed Part of the City's Defences

London, April 22.—A further discovery carrying the history of Jerusalem 500 years farther than hitherto known is reported to The Daily Telegraph by Professor Stewart McAlister, who recently traced the ancient City of David. This latest find in the excavation of the city shows a great trench sunk in rock older than the Jebusite Well, previously found. Apparently it formed a part of the city's defences in the early period.

On the surface of the trench, which is eight feet deep and eleven feet wide, there is a series of broken steps, now cleared for the first time of the rubbish which filled them from before the time of Abraham.

Professor McAllister also reports finding at the top of the trench what he believes to be a Jebusite or pre-Jebusite sanctuary, and he describes it as by far the oldest known "holy place" in Jerusalem.

DEATH OF BABY LED TO ARRESTS

Bobbed-Hair Bandit and Husband Taken to New York From Jacksonville, Fla.

Jacksonville, Fla., April 22.—Celia Cooney, twenty years old, smiled a demure good-bye as she boarded a train here last evening for New York in custody of two detectives to face charges of highway robbery and assault with intent to kill in connection with a long series of daring holdups credited to "the Bobbed-Hair Girl Bandit."

Her husband, Edward Cooney, twenty-five, also charged with the holdups and shooting, was visibly shaken as he began the trip back to New York.

Mrs. Cooney maintained the alternate air of calm indifference and vivaciousness which she displayed from the time of her capture early yesterday, when she greeted the levelled revolvers of the police with a smile and an automatic pistol.

NO GUN DUEL

"I won't shoot if you won't," she offered when the police broke in the door of the room in which they were staying, and a threatened gun fight was averted.

Cooney, who faced the police with a revolver in each hand, wanted to kill her and then commit suicide rather than be captured, Mrs. Cooney said.

Cooney, according to Detective E. S. Gray of New York, confessed to having taken part in a number of the New York holdups credited to the couple, including one in which an employee of a company was shot and seriously wounded. Cooney and his wife, according to detectives, each attempted to take the blame for the shooting.

DYED HER HAIR

Mrs. Cooney, a slender brunette, about five feet two inches tall, with black eyes, wore her hair under a net when she left here and it did not have the appearance of being bobbed. She told the police her hair had been blonde but that she had dyed it.

It was the birth and subsequent death of their child that led to the apprehension of the Cooneys. The child, a girl, was born here April 11 and died eight days later. It was born just ten days after the holdup of the National Biscuit Company plant on April 1, which Mrs. Cooney said was her twentieth birthday.

The trail led through thirteen states, according to detectives from New York. It was through the undertaker who had charge of the funeral arrangements for the child that the couple's address was obtained.

MOMENTS OF SADNESS

Mrs. Cooney ceased to smile for a few minutes yesterday when she discussed the death of her baby.

"We named her Katherine," she said.

New York police said they had obtained the "tip" that the Cooneys were in Jacksonville through a message for money Cooney was said to have sent his mother in New York. The money, it was said, was used to pay the hospital bill.

TASCHEREAU MAKES AN APPEAL FOR CANADIAN UNITY

Toronto, April 22.—An appeal for greater unity throughout Canada, and particularly between Ontario and Quebec through the use of the French language, was made last night at the sixty-third annual meeting of the Ontario Education Association by Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec.

In opening his address, Premier Taschereau said he recognized that in a country like Canada, where there were two outstanding languages, the problems of education were not to be difficult. His plea was that in educational matters the authorities should not confine their work to the teaching of the routine subjects which were essential to the foundations of life, but that greater attention should be given to the teaching of true Canadianism.

"And by true Canadianism," he added, "I mean unity. I do not mean the study of any one part of Canada, of Ontario or Quebec, of the Maritimes or of the West alone, but of the whole of Canada."

FAMILIES OF CATS, KITTENS AND FOXES

Picton, Ont., April 22.—At the Prince Edward Black Fox Farm a litter of pups was recently born to Mrs. Fox and she utterly refused to own them or have anything to do with them. The neighborhood was canvassed for mother cats and two were commandeered.

One kitten was left with each cat and three of the young foxes were adopted by each. Cats, kittens and foxes are doing well.

CANADIANIZING OF SETTLERS IS TASK

R. J. C. Stead Suggests Canadian Periodicals; an Appeal to Librarians

Toronto, April 22.—Discussing the assimilation of newcomers into Canadian national life, R. J. C. Stead, Ottawa, president of the Canadian Authors' Association, last night at the annual convention of the Ontario Library Association suggested the value of a periodical national literature which would create a Canadian spirit. It was advantageous that half the newcomers were British with British ideals. This made the problem of creating a national spirit less difficult.

The librarians were urged to see that those who depended on them for their reading material should be more widely introduced to Canadian literature.

Mr. Stead suggested that fifty per cent of the literature circulated should be Canadian, twenty-five per cent British, fifteen per cent United States and ten per cent from other countries. Canada, he declared, must not be an echo of any other country.

200,000 Autos Expected to Visit Quebec This Year

Montreal, April 22.—That Montreal is on the eve of its biggest automobile season and that from 150,000 to 200,000 cars will enter the province of Quebec this year is the conviction of officials of the Royal Automobile Club of Canada, expressed here today. For the first time in the history of the club citizens of the United States are inquiring for information as to car rates to Europe, indicating they will drive from New York, Chicago and other points to this city and take ship here for European ports.

The will sets aside £100 to be invested and used for this purpose.

Sir Henry left many bequests to hospitals and charities in memory of various relatives. The estate is valued at £250,000 on which the state tax amounts to £55,000.

$1,000 ROBBERY IN ALBERTA; THUGS ARE AT LARGE

WILD BOAR WAS FROZEN IN ICE; VILLAGERS FEASTED

Grenoble, France, April 22.—An avalanche sweeping the Bourg d' Oisans Road near Rochetailles recently left a huge block of ice in which was encased the body of a wild boar. When thawed out the meat was found to be excellently preserved and the villagers enjoyed a feast.

ENDED HIS LIFE

Montreal, April 22.—"I know very little about palmistry, but I have noticed a decided break in my life line to take effect about this stage of my life," wrote an unknown man who fatally shot himself in the head in an up-town restaurant here early Sunday morning. The note was found in his pocket and was addressed to the coroner. The man was about fifty years old and was neatly dressed. A verdict of suicide was returned by a jury.

THE BIG SHOW

THE British Empire Exhibition at Wembly Park, London, will be opened by the King to-morrow. It will be the biggest project of its kind ever undertaken, and a wonderful object lesson to the world of the potentialities of the Britannic commonwealth spread over the seven seas.

The infinite variety of interests of the four hundred millions of people who own allegiance to a common sovereign will be housed in structures typical of the countries they represent, from the igloo of the Eskimo to the kraal of the Kaffir. The products of every zone will be shown to the very best advantage and Dominions and dependencies will vie with one another in making the most favorable impression upon the millions who will visit this mammoth display during the next six months.

No other nation or empire in all the ages could have held such an exhibition. No combination of nations could do it. It sums up the exploration, conquests, colonization and constructive development of a thousand years carried on by one people. It tells a story of sacrifice and suffering as well as triumph and reward. It depicts every avenue of human activity, and therefore is actually a world show.

The part played by the Dominions should be gratifying to the illustrious promoters of the exhibition. They occupy nearly 700,000 square feet of space. Canada and Australia have 150,000 square feet each and the rivalry between them for the best showing is keen.

No Canadian need have any apprehension regarding the nature of Canada's exhibit. This Dominion is an experienced showman. It has a proud tradition in the business. At the great exposition in San Francisco a few years ago its display led the world in variety, taste and arrangement. Canada has a special interest in this exhibition because the scheme was initiated by Lord Strathcona in 1913 and would have been carried out before if it had not been for the war.

The British Empire Exhibition will prove a valuable educative agency. It will enenlighten millions in Great Britain, many of whom need that enlightenment, on the geography, resources and material development of the far-flung British Dominions and the industrial capacity of their various peoples. It will enlighten visitors from the Dominions on one another's countries, and they also need that enlightenment. It will give visitors from foreign countries some conception of the vast resources, developed and undeveloped, and the capacity for industrial achievement, of the British Empire. It will emphasize the fact that this display, immense though it is, reflects merely an immature stage of collective development, and gives only a glimpse of the potential material wealth and power of the British world.

MORE INSIDIOUS THAN THE OIL SCANDAL

THESE super-tariffs which the Republican party has been heaping on the United States are not all one-way in their political effect. There are signs of a reaction against them and the leaders of the Democratic party in casting about for something popular on which to base their campaign have seized on the high tariffs along with the oil scandals at Washington under the Republican regime.

William Gibbs McAdoo, a possible presidential candidate of the Democratic party, has been on the Coast sounding the rallying cry of the forces opposed to the return of a Republican president. Mr. McAdoo was greeted at great meetings at Tacoma and Seattle during the last few days. He said in his speeches that terrible and indefensible as are the scandals at Washington, they do not rival the larger, more subtle and more insidious offences against the American people in the form of tariff favors.

"Detestable as bribery of public officials is, an even graver offence against public morals and the public welfare is the open enrichment of the trusts, monopolies, special interests and contributors to the Republican campaign fund, through the enactment of the Fordney-McCumber tariff act which conferred upon these interests the power to tax all of the American people for their special benefit," Mr. McAdoo said.

With regard to the wheat tariff, which was raised from thirty to forty-two cents a bushel, Mr. McAdoo emphasized the fact that it failed to benefit even the farmers for whose sake it was passed, as the price of wheat immediately fell ten cents a bushel when the higher tariff was put into effect.

The tariff apparently is to be a leading issue in the campaign in the United States. The Democratic leaders with their ears to the ground sense a popular response to a challenge on this issue. There are signs that the agriculturists are becoming disillusioned about the alleged beneficial effects of repeated doses of tariff medicine for all their ills. They and others in the country are learning that if they would sell abroad the country must make compensating purchases abroad.

TWO REMARKABLE WOMEN

TWO remarkable women, both of Italian blood, whose names are known over a great part of the world, died yesterday. Marie Corelli, was probably better known in this country, through the popularity of her novels. Eleanor Duse, the tragedienne, however, was far more eminent in her profession than Marie Corelli was as a writer.

Although she was not a novelist whose works can stand the test of time—as she had many literary lapses and a style that was not flawless—Corelli had what might be termed a good news sense and commanded a popular following. In fact, there were few living writers whose circulation excelled hers a decade or so ago when her vogue was at its highest. She had not much use for critics who found too much sub-standard in her work, but she knew, as one of them admitted, "how to rake in the shekels." She knew how to throw around her stories that mystic atmosphere which stirs the interest of the public. She dabbled in fascinating theories just beyond the rim of scientific reality. For instance, in her "Romance of Two Worlds," she preached the doctrine of psychical electricity. In other novels she gave theories of radio-activity, a theosophical cure-all for this world and the next.

The world has become much indebted to Corelli in recent years for the manner in which she devoted her time and talents to the preservation of Shakespeare relics at Stratford-on-Avon, where she made her own home. She was one of the guardian angels of the Shakespeare Trust and bitterly resisted interference or any action which would tend to destroy for this age or posterity what had been handed down in that place from Shakespeare and his times.

Duse was known to the younger generation at least in this part of the world, only by name, and perhaps at that to very few of them. Although she was ranked higher than Sarah Bernhardt by well-informed critics in England, her reputation was not spread so far and wide as that of the French actress. Bernhardt in her methods was said to be more scientific, calculating, leaving nothing to chance. Duse was always swayed by the feelings of the moment, creating them and then herself reacting to them. She was not only an actress and an artist but a personality.

Sincerity and unaffected naturalness were the features of her art. Those who had seen her tell how she was able to command her emotions so completely that she could at will blush, or become pale as in fainting. Her remarkable genius gained her praise even from the most exacting in the theatres of France, Holland, Britain, Italy and North and South America. There have been few actors or actresses who have been able to overcome the handicaps of language and cover such a large part of the world.

Duse's season in New York last Winter and the tour of America on which she started recently and which brought her as far as San Francisco, came as an anti-climax to her career. The critics treated her kindly, but there was missing that power of early days. She was well patronized, but chiefly, it is feared, as a curiosity from other and greater days. With an actress as with no other artist, age is cruel. But she had the privilege of dying at her work.

Toronto is now asking why there has been all the rush to investigate December, 1919, which was just after the Farmers came into power, and a sudden scurry from investigating September of the same year, which was just before the Conservative Government went out.

An asset in running for office is possession of a name which will readily lend itself to slogan making. President Coolidge has proved satisfactory from this point of view as campaign managers have been distributing hot weather fans labelled "Keep Cool-idge." William Gibbs McAdoo, who looms as a Democratic contender is being cacophonously heralded by the crow of "McAdoo will do."

"UNEASY LIES THE HEAD"

From The London Mail

I'd rather have a good digestion than a throne; and so, I imagine, would the King and his eldest son. Few people realize that His Majesty suffers from chronic indigestion, and how on earth he manages to smile as much as he does passes my comprehension. The Prince of Wales inherits his father's complaint, and is the despair of his host and hotesses because he practically live on eggs and farinaceous fodder. His most solid dish is chicken—and even that has to be chopped up very finely for him. Yet he manages as a rule to appear in the pink of condition, and his natural nervousness and fidgetyness (he can hardly keep still for five minutes together) are admirably camouflaged in public.

SMART SOCIETY IN THE NORTH

From The Interior News, Smithers

Mrs. Bourgon has returned to the ranch, but before leaving she had a slap up-to-date "500" evening, at which everyone just rolled up with laughter.

A CHANCE FOR EVERYBODY

From The San Francisco Chronicle

An important citizen is a man who can get a little publicity by announcing that he will not be a candidate.

FORGIVENESS

Nothing is more moving to man than the spectacle of reconciliation. Our weaknesses are thus indemnified and are not too costly—being the price we pay for the hour of forgiveness; and the archangel, who has never felt anger, has reason to envy the man who subdues it. When thou forgivest, the man who has pierced thy heart stands to thee in the relation of a sea-worm that perforates the shell of the mussel, which straightway closes the wound with a pearl.—Jean Paul Richter.

SYMPTOMS

From London Opinion

When you begin reading the letter over twice or thrice or more—

And studying even the envelope and postmark—

And gazing long at the opening and closing in search of some deeply hidden meaning—

And admiring the handwriting and the stationery—

And smiling a dreamy smile as you read—

You're gone, my boy, you're gone!

Dr. Frank Crane on "The Innocent Sufferers"

(Copyright)

ONE of the strange and unjust laws of Fate is that for every one person who is disgraced, sent to the penitentiary or executed because he has committed a crime, there are one or more others who suffer, sometimes equally, sometimes more, for his offence; others who are guilty of nothing except that they love the offender, are akin to him or in some way closely connected with him.

It is safe to say that for every convict in the penitentiary, enduring the shame and pain of his confinement, there is one or more outside who, as mother or sister or wife or friend, are being punished as much as the man who wears the stripes.

The other day two men, in an Eastern city, were condemned to death for murdering two bank messengers. Shortly afterwards their sister came to a newspaper office and made this plea for herself, her mother and her sisters:

"Tell them to let us be in peace! Tell the people to quit hounding us!"

She said that crowds of curious persons would stop in front of her house, they would point scornfully at her mother, who is fifty-three and almost paralytic.

"They make a spectacle of us," she added, "as if we were strange, wild beasts."

Besides this she told how the bank in which she had her account made her withdraw it just because she was a sister of the condemned men. Further more, she alleged that a friend of hers lost a high salaried position as buyer for a millinery house just because the boss overheard her telephoning her sympathy to the family.

What a deal of vicarious suffering there is in the world!

Many a mother is being pushed to the grave by the thoughtless self-indulgence of a wastrel son.

Many a man who has lived honestly all his life, and who has seemed to deserve the reward of a comfortable old age, has been caught in the cog-wheel of our intricate humanity and is being ground to pieces by some scoundrel friend who has enmeshed him in his actions.

When the thug gets to shooting in the crowded street, his bullet, like as not, strikes down some innocent bystander.

When the scandalmonger begins to throw rocks into the dirty pool it is the careless passer-by who is often bespattered.

We are all more or less linked with our fellowmen and it is rare that one can fall down without pulling others with him.

The Escape to Battleford

SOON after the Indians under Big Bear on the Frog Lake Reserve, now in the Province of Alberta, had massacred a number of the whites living about the Hudson's Bay Company Store and the Government Farm Instructor's house, and had taken the others captive, they appeared before Fort Pitt, thirty miles to the east and on the northern branch of the Saskatchewan. Here Inspector Dickens commanded a body of Northwest Mounted Police, and Mr. Maclean was the Hudson's Bay Company officer-in-charge. The residents had expected Indian interference at the least and had provided for escape from an untenable position by feverishly constructing two large scows on which they intended to float down the river the moment it was free of ice.

When the Indians sent in a demand for instant surrender of the fort, Maclean went out to parley, but was taken prisoner. He knew the Indians thoroughly from experience and realized that they were worked up to a high pitch of excitement and that their intentions were the worst. He managed to send back word to Inspector Dickens to escape with the police as soon and as fast as possible. He sent another letter to his wife advising her to come out and give herself up and instructing her to give his orders to the Hudson's Bay Company employees to do the same. They all obeyed, twenty-two in number. Undoubtedly Maclean was relying on the tremendous prestige of the Great Company among the Indians and apparently he was not deceived.

Meanwhile, the scouts who had been sent out from the fort had had to run the gauntlet to get back. In doing so one was killed and the other two severely wounded.

Inspector Dickens now gave up all idea of holding out a moment longer. The police, immediately on the departure of the Hudson's Bay Company people retired across the river from the fort on a scow. The river was rough; there was considerable ice; the crazy scow leaked badly; and the police, carefully carrying aloft their colors, were nearly swamped. On the other bank they camped and spent a wretched, windy, snowy night. The Indians pillaged the fort and occupied it.

THE next morning the police embarked and moved slowly down the current in the bitter April weather. The scow was jostled and ground by the great cakes of ice and once or twice the ice jams threatened to crush the frail craft. Meanwhile the men were suffering from exposure. Many were frost-bitten and all wore their clothing stiff as boards frozen to their bodies. It was small wonder that the landing for dinner in the middle of the day lasted three hours.

The next day broke dull and cold. The police got off at seven in the morning and continued the journey amid the running ice. The third day was much the same; cold, comfortless run till the halt for the night-camp on Pine Island. They were now approaching the centre of area affected by the half-breed disturbances. The scows were therefore provided with rough barricades for bulwarks. The Inspector paraded the force, a bedraggled line. Arms were inspected and everything prepared for action, for as they ran they expected any moment a serenade of lead from the high banks of the Saskatchewan. The rest and comparative comfort of that fourth day which they spent entirely on Pine Island, revived considerably the wounded scout they had brought along.

The fifth day they got away at seven in the morning, and about eleven they were hailed from the southern bank by a party of police, two constables and an interpreter, who had dispatches for them, reporting Battleford still unmolested and expecting the arrival of the Canadian Militia any day. From here they ran all day without a stop till they halted for the night on a small island. The tedium of the way was lightened by the frequent striking on sandbars, for the river, which had been in flood, was falling rapidly. That night they spent aboard the scow, mounting a guard of two men, for they were in the rebel country.

It was the next day, April 22, 1885, that starting at a quarter before six in the morning they reached Battleford within three hours. They were welcomed in hearty fashion. The garrison turned out to do them honor and presented arms, while the band of the North-west Mounted Police played them into the fort and the citizens of Battleford cheered themselves hoarse. The honors were practical as well, for the ladies of the town prepared them a sumptuous dinner.

Withstands punishment

RAILWAY crossings, stony roads, curb bumps, sudden braking and steep down-grade are typical of the numberless punishments that cause internal heat so destructive to both rubber and cords.

In Dominion Cord Tires you have always had the greatest dependability—but now, by our exclusive new Web Cord process, internal friction and heat caused by cross threads are eliminated.

Our new Sprayed Rubber process increases the elasticity and strength of the treads and side walls, because Sprayed Rubber is the purest rubber in the world. It is used exclusively in Dominion Royal Cord and U-cord Tires in Canada.

The extra mileage and dependability of these new features in Dominion Cord Tires are thoroughly proven by years of actual road tests. They mean no increase in the price of Dominion Cord Tires.

YOUR HEALTH

LIMIT YOUR LIQUIDS AS ONE AID IN NEPHRITIS

By Royal S. Copeland, M.D.

Many persons have an almost superstitious fear of every disease of the kidneys.

They dodge the mere thought of such an affection. They are fearful of it as they would be of a ghost. The result is that if they develop kidney trouble they are thrown into a fever of anxiety.

The kidneys play a most important part in ridding the body of waste material. Poisons, which retained in the system would cause disease, are eliminated through the urine. If the kidneys fail to function properly because of injury, illness or poisoning, many symptoms are produced.

Any abnormal condition of these organs can usually be detected and diagnosed by an examination of the urine. In disease of the kidneys, such an examination may show the urine to contain albumin, blood and "casts."

Acute nephritis, or acute Bright's disease, is one of the common affections of the kidney. It is really an inflammation of the organ.

The condition may be caused by exposure to cold and dampness, by infections, such as diseased tonsils or by diseases such as scarlet fever. It may follow a serious injury or burn.

The symptoms of nephritis are varied. Usually there is suppression of the urine. This is highly colored, and when it is allowed to stand for a while, there is a heavy deposit.

Fever may be present in nephritis. There may also be swelling of the face, eyelids, fingers and legs. Usually there is dryness of the skin.

In the treatment of nephritis the first essential is absolute rest in bed. The patient should be kept as quiet in body and mind as is possible, in a comfortable, bright room. The greatest care must be taken to prevent his taking cold. While it is important to have the sickroom well ventilated, the sufferer should be carefully protected from drafts.

The diet must be limited to liquids. As a rule milk, both sweet milk and buttermilk, fruit juices and gruels may be given, but in some cases the diet is restricted to milk alone.

Make certain that the intestinal tract is functioning properly. For this purpose it may be necessary to give an enema each day.

Of course, you will consult your doctor at the very beginning of the illness and remain under his constant care. He will outline medical treatment to meet your needs.

Don't think that you must die just because you have been unfortunate enough to have an attack of nephritis. Such an idea is ridiculous!

The best thing about it is that having the disease will warn you that you are human and mortal. You will take better care of yourself thereafter and lead the sort of life that guarantees health.

It is a shame how neglectful many right-intentioned persons can be of their precious bodies. It pays to know the rules of health and it pays still more to apply them.

ALL FOOD SHOULD BE SEALED

The medical profession very generally advocate that all food products should be sold in sealed packages. All cities rigorously inspect butcher shops to prevent meat from being infected, many prohibit milk from being sold in bulk and gradually this will come with everything. "SALADA" was the first to introduce the package idea as regards tea, over thirty-two years ago and "SALADA" is still a little purer and a little better than other teas. It has by far the largest sale.

MANY PHASES OF HEALTH DISCUSSED BY B.C. NURSES

Interesting Papers Read at To-day's Session of Provincial Convention

The Vancouver Health Centre and its many ramifications in 2,000 B.C., formed the subject of an interesting and amusing paper given before the B.C. Graduate Nurses' Association this morning by Miss Bessie Robison of the Child Hygiene department of Vancouver. Miss Robison cleverly anticipated the reforms in public health matters which might be expected during the next century and her theories were listened to with absorbed interest. The activities of the Tuberculosis Association of Sacramento, Cal., formed the basis of an interesting letter from Miss G. Iveaskins of that association.

A paper by Miss Elinor Wade, provincial school nurse at Fernie, B.C., gave apt illustration of the best way in which to secure co-operation in this work and the necessity for it in different phases of public health work. Each of these features were presented in the course of a profitable conference on public health, arranged by Miss M. P. Campbell, convener of that committee.

At the business meeting following the conference a paper on nursing education and private duty, with a number of interesting reminiscences by Miss C. R. Whitlam, was read by Miss O'Connell, convener of the committee on private nursing duty. Miss Furneau's paper on the insulin treatment of diabetes was read by Miss Morrison.

TRIBUTE TO LATE "PADRE"

In the afternoon the invocation which was to have been given by the late Rev. G. H. Andrews was delivered by Rev. H. T. Archbold, who paid touching tribute to the late "Padre."

Silent prayer in memory to the late Rev. Mr. Andrews followed the invocation.

A warm welcome was given to the delegates on behalf of the city by Mayor Hayward and on behalf of the local Graduate Nurses' Association by Miss Morrison, president. Miss Kate Stott, R.N., replying.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

In her annual address Miss Breeze, provincial president, laid emphasis upon the excellent results achieved by close co-operation and team work, making particular reference to the splendid work accomplished by the various committees. The outstanding feature of the year's work was the holding of institutes in connection with the Summer school of the B.C. University, at which was given six weeks' administrative and teaching courses and short private duty refresher course.

Miss Randall's report as treasurer, in her absence through illness, was presented by Miss McLellan. Her report read in part:

"It should be a satisfaction to this association to know that we are considered throughout Canada to have the best organized system of nursing activities. We are being consulted through the registrar as to affiliation, inspection of schools, our local registry system in Vancouver, the methods of R.N. examinations, and it should be an incentive to do more."

The financial balance in hand was $8,004.93, and the roster of members registered last year numbered 257.

DELEGATES APPOINTED

A comprehensive review of the work accomplished during the year was given by Miss M. E. Johnson, secretary, in her annual report. Resolutions to come before the national meeting were discussed and the attitude of the B.C. Association was presented to Miss Breeze, Miss Johns and Miss McLeay, who will represent British Columbia at the national gathering.

TRAINING SCHOOLS

Training school inspection formed the basis of an excellent report by Miss Randall, who is in charge of this branch of the work. After detailing her findings as the result of visits of inspection, she recommended that steps be taken to specially train nurses to take over the smaller training schools and teach the necessary courses, the larger hospitals to be on the lookout for nurses fitted for such work, and to place them on the staff to train for that purpose.

Nursing homes have been established at Kelowna, Prince Rupert and Ladysmith and Miss Randall suggested a correlation of all applications for training schools to avoid congestion in any particular centre.

NURSES' MEMORIAL

The memorial to nurses who gave their lives during the great war, which is to be erected in the Hall of Fame at Ottawa, will not be completed for a year or so, according to the report of Miss Breeze, provincial convener of the memorial committee. Of the total of $37,554.97 raised in the Dominion for this purpose, the nurses of British Columbia have raised $4,336.35.

Last night the nurses listened to an interesting address by the Rev. Clem Davies on the relation of health to science, medicine and religion. An attractive musical programme included songs by Mrs. Jameson and a duet by Miss Clothier and Miss Purdy.

This afternoon the visitors were taken for a motor drive and later paid a visit to St. Joseph's Hospital.

CRITICIZED RURAL SCHOOL CONDITIONS

Toronto, April 22.—Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., severely criticized rural school conditions at the opening session here to-day of the Trustee and Ratepayers' Association. Miss MacPhail said that rural education in Ontario had stood still for years and was out of touch with life as it was lived to-day. "Education to-day," she said, "seems to be learning to get as much as possible with the least possible work. "Education does not try to dignify labor and if followed to its logical conclusion would lead right away from labor. Labor seems only to be dignified when the other fellow does it." She criticized school boards because their only consideration of qualification seemed to have the children pass examinations. The present rural educational system could not be wiped out and another substituted but people could be roused to demand better than they were getting.

METROPOLITAN W.M.S. ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

The annual meeting of the Metropolitan Woman's Missionary Auxiliary was held in the church a few days go. The regular monthly meetings during the year have been well attended, and very full of interest, and the members have all been loyal and faithful to this branch of church work. The treasurer reported $1,317 raised and used for missionary purposes, an increase of $160 over last year givings. The auxiliary has 161 life and annual members.

The officers who will carry on for the coming year are: President, Mrs. McCombe; first vice-president, Mrs. Whitely; second vice-president, Mrs. Koyl; treasurer, Mrs. A. Read; corresponding secretary, Mrs. R. S. Anderson; recording secretary, Miss Fullerton; strangers' secretary, Mrs. Clemence; Christian stewardship secretary, Mrs. Playfair; literature secretary, Mrs. Rilly; mite box secretary, Mrs. Hedley; pianist, Mrs. Stacey.

Dishwashing—with dainty hands

NOT possible, you say? Perhaps it wasn't, before Lux was discovered for dishwashing. But now, Lux, with its instant soapy suds, not only cleans your dishes thoroughly, but is as easy on the hands as the finest toilet soap.

Ordinary soaps or washing powders are too hard on the skin, making it rough and red. The ingredients in Lux are helpful—to the hands and skin—the Lux suds if constantly used will keep the skin smooth as Nature intended. You can do your own dishes, and not be ashamed of your hands, because they will never show that they have been in the dishpan.

Just a single teaspoonful is sufficient for your breakfast or lunch dishes—you may possibly have to use two teaspoonfuls for your dinner dishes. Try it just once. You will be so delighted that you will want to use it always.

Your hands will show improvement at once.
Keep a package of Lux handy on your kitchen shelf. Use it for all your dishes.

Lux is economical for all dish-washing. One packet contains sufficient for 54 dish-washings—nearly all the dishes for three weeks.

LUX

Lux is sold only in sealed packets—dustproof!

AT THE THEATRES

ROUSING WELCOME GREETS SIR JOHN MARTIN-HARVEY

Sir John Martin-Harvey, the great English actor, received a warm welcome from Victorians last evening on his return after an absence of three years and the enthusiasm which greeted his opening production augurs well for the success of his week's engagement at the Royal Victoria Theatre. The repeated curtains at the end of "The Cigarette Maker's Romance" recalled memories of other first nights, an impression which was heightened when the great actor in response to vociferous plaudits spoke a few words in appreciation of the welcome given to him and his company and briefly referred to to-night's production of "Oedipus Rex." While Shakespeare had been skopen of as the greatest dramatist of all time, Sophocles, the Greek author of "Oedipus Rex" had been appropriately called the greatest artist of all time, he said.

"The Cigarette Maker's Romance" is a fitting vehicle for the display of those particular gifts which have made Sir John one of the most popular actors with theatregoers for many years past. As Count Skariatine who through loss of memory has fallen into the wretched occupation of cigarette-making, he sympathetically enacted the role of the courtly aristocrat, striving to delve into the mists which befog his memory and cloud his past. The beauty of his voice and the charm of his gestures added to the poignant appeal of his role.

One of the greatest moments of the play is that when the Count cherishing the eight-year-old illusion that his "friends" are coming to his rescue faces the stark nakedness of the truth that he is doomed to the fate of madness. The money which he fondly believed was the gift of his wealthy friends proved to represent the sacrifices of his poor associates in the cigarette factory. In this scene Sir John rose to superb heights of emotional acting, his change of mood from happy optimism to bitter disappointment and bewilderment being a masterpiece of art.

Sir John was ably supported by a strong cast which included Lady Martin-Harvey as Viera, the girl who never loses hope that the day will come when the Count will recover his memory and his birthright. Gordon McLeod acted strongly and convincingly as Dumnoff, friend of the unhappy Count; Christian, the henpecked master of the cigarette factory was amusingly interpreted by Alfred Ibberson, while Marie Linden as Akulina, his wife, gave a clever study of the greedy, shrewish and tyrannical mistress. Walter Pearce acted with commendable power in the heavy role of Anton Scariatine, the usurper, whose machinations were foiled with melodramatic touch.

The role of Anna, fiance of Dumnoff, was sustained by Miss Ann Furrell; Miss Molly Moltens supplied light comedy relief in the part of Augusta, the clumsey servant, and Eugene Weiseley was excellently cast as Schmidt, ally of Count Skariatine.

"A Cigarette Maker's Romance" is to be again produced on Friday evening and all who wish to see Sir John in one of the most delightful roles of his repertoire should hasten to reserve seats.

Musical Attraction at the Capitol This Evening

Trained Three Months for Scene in Capitol Film

In singing paeans of praise to "The Great White Way," the big picture of life in New York, which is now playing to capacity twice daily at the Capitol Theatre, film critics and prize fight authorities have marvelled at the exceptionally realistic fight waged by Oscar Shaw, leading man of the photoplay, in the big prize fight scene.

Many sporting authorities including Tex Rickard, have contended that Shaw, had he chosen the ring, might have established himself as firmly as a boxer as he has behind the footlights. The actor film battle with Pete Hartley, one of the leading contenders for the lightweight title held by Benny Leonard, achieves the acme of realism.

Before being able to withstand the savage lunges and hard punches of the rugged Hartley, the actor-fighter had to undergo a rigorous course of training that lasted more than three months. Johnny Hennessey, well known conditioner of fighters, was engaged to take the actor in tow. He immediately put Shaw through a regular professional course of training.

When the fight scene was shot, Shaw was in perfect condition. Even Hartley admitted that the actor was as tough, or tougher, than many professionals he had met.

The prize ring scene is only one of the many spectacular episodes that have made "The Great White Way" the photoplay sensation of the season.

Dominion to Show British Films Here

Commencing yesterday, the Dominion shows the first of a new series of British Scenic Pictures entitled, "Beautiful Britain." These scenic British travel scenes will be a part of the regular Dominion programme in the future, and will be shown exclusively in that theatre. All the historic places of note throughout the British Isles are embraced in the series and the scenic grandure of the beauty spots of the Old Country is vividly reproduced in the splendid photographs and artistic camera work which abounds in these films.

Carter's Hand is Shown in "The Eleventh Hour"

"The Eleventh Hour," the Lincoln J. Carter stage "thriller" produced on the screen by William Fox, sent thousands of mental shocks vibrating through the Columbia Theatre yesterday. The picture pulsates with life. But this was to be expected in a drama from Carter. The "Father of Melodrama," as he is called, knows how to hustle things along and has speeded up the action in this story to the top-notch.

The adventures of a beautiful young heiress and an iron-nerved Federal Officer who prevents a European prince from learning the secret of a new explosive owned by Uncle Sam, is the subject that is treated so entertainingly in "The Eleventh Hour." The escape of the hero and heroine from the submarine through the torpedo tubes and the terrific fight between the Federal officer and the conspirators, in which the life of the young girl is the issue, are two of the big moments of the picture.

Wonderful Young Japanese Shows Himself Wizard

Tameo Kajiyama, the wonderful young Japanese who writes, talks and reads at the same time and who can solve mathematical problems with the rapidity of a wizard, is the feature of this week's Pantages vaudeville bill.

The first show of the week is to-morrow, the matinee commencing at 3, while the evening shows commence at 7 and 9 respectively. The schedule prevails on Thursday and Friday.

Master Illusionist is Roland Travers, who makes his appearance in one of those rare vaudeville acts that can truthfully be described as unique. Astonishing happenings follow in quick succession while Travers is on the stage.

Four members of the famous juvenile company of Douglas Dancers provide an interesting fifteen minutes with song, dance and patter.

Bailey and Thompson are colored comedians with a new line of fun.

Lew Wells appears in monologue and saxaphone eccentricities.

The Pantagescope number is a new Century comedy.

Paramount's Super Production to Appear Here

Having produced his gigantic production of "The Ten Commandments," Cecil B. De Mille now returns to the kind of attraction that made him famous as a director, such as "Why Change Your Wife?" "Manslaughter," "Male and Female." His latest super production "Triumph," which had its premiere at the Dominion Theatre on Monday, is really a triumph of art in every way. "Triumph" will be bigger than "Manslaughter." Like "Manslaughter," it ran in the Saturday Evening Post, and has been produced by the master director, with lavish settings, dazzling gowns, and beautiful women. "Triumph" has a bigger theme than "Manslaughter," a more dramatic story. It shows you the factory girl in the whirl and thunder of modern machinery, then swept suddenly into a tinselled atmosphere of wealth, jewels, lovers and applause. It shows you a millionaire's son, soft, lazy, hurled suddenly into the gutter and made to dig for a living. It shows you a horny young man of toil suddenly showered with millions and huge power and what it does to him. It says to the poor, "What would you do with the wealth of Rockefeller?"—"I'll show you." It says to the rich "Where would you be without your money?"—"I'll show you." It says to all women, "Would you really be happy with fine gowns, a handsome lover, Rolls-Royces?" — "I'll show you." And it does. The big scenes include an elaborate burlesque of the ultra modern beauty shop, a lavish flash-back to the balcony scene of "Romeo and Juliet" and the climax when the two male leads are shown fighting furiously in a limousine going at ninety miles an hour, and then twist at the finish that will place this picture among the best productions of the season. "Triumph" was adapted from May Edginton's novel in the The Saturday Evening Post.

TOTAL EXCLUSION OF JAPANESE WILL NOT CAUSE TROUBLE

Yasooh Idzumi, Japanese Arriving To-day, Says Relations Not Strained

"The total exclusion of Japanese from the United States will not cause serious friction between the two countries," stated Yasooh Idzumi, of the Oriental—Tourist Association, who arrived from the Orient on the liner Africa Maru this morning, in charge of a party of Japanese tourists.

"Our relations with the United States are not strained. There are a few anti-Japanese in the States just as there are a few radicals in Japan but they are in the minority. Those in Japan who are in favor of forceful measures are far in the minority and cannot affect the government policy."

Regarding the reconstruction of Japan Mr. Idzumi said progress was very favorable. Japan, he said, had all the material that was necessary for the present.

After the earthquake Japan realized how badly she was in need of shipping and augmented her mercantile fleet by advantageous buys on foreign markets and is now in a position to handle all construction material for shipment to that country.

Mr. Idzumi forsees a period of prosperity for Japan. Already, he asserted, new trade routes are being developed.

Kinjire Yamashita, of the International Trading Company of Japan was a passenger by the Africa Maru. It is his intention to visit the British Empire Exhibition and tour Europe on business. He says that there is an increased demand in Japan for European manufactured products in certain lines.

Docked From Far East This Morning; Discharged 120 Tons of Cargo

Completing an uneventful voyage from the Orient the Osaka Shosen Kaisha liner Africa Maru, Capt. Komiya docked at pier 2 this morning at 6.30 o'clock to discharge 120 tons of cargo. The liner brought a good passenger list from the Orient forty of whom debarked here.

There were 210 passengers all told. Of this number forty were first class, eighty-two second class and eighty-eight steerage. Included in the passenger list was a party of Japanese tourists, headed by Yasooh Idzumi, of the Oriental Tourist Association.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON CLOSING AT ST. JOHN

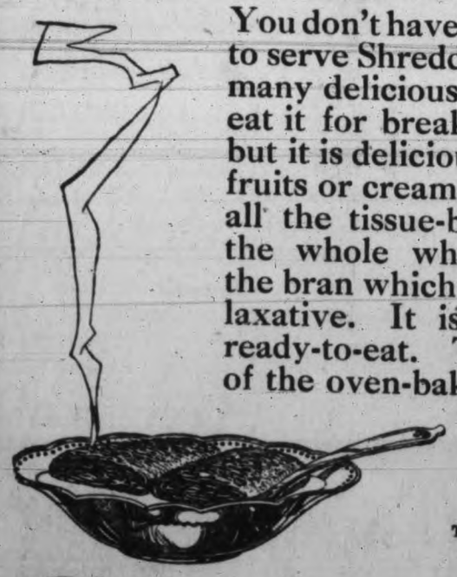

Winter Season of Activity Drawing to Close; Comparison is Made

St. John, N.B., April 22.—The season's activities at the port of St. John are rapidly drawing to a close and this week will practically see the termination of the Winter activities. The season was a most successful one and not only equaled but even surpassed the most sanguine expectations. The entire port trade was heavier than expected, and it is evident that trade conditions are slowly but surely returning to a pre-war basis.

C.P.Ss. Montclare, which arrived here last Saturday from Liverpool, was the last passenger liner due here this season. Her departure next Friday practically brings to a close a most successful season's activities. At the present time there are eight ocean-going liners in port, the majority of which are booked to take away not only large general cargoes, but also quantities of grain from the C.P.R. elevators in West St. John.

To date 12,667,000 bushels of grain have been shipped from these elevators and there are 200,000 more bushels to be sent forward this week, which will bring the season's total shipments up to 13,000,000 bushels. The total imports and exports through the port of St. John for the fiscal year ending March 31 showed a gain of $2,000,000 over 1923. The total shipments were valued at 477,949,212, as compared with 475,825,388 the previous year, and over $7,000,000 more than in 1922. In March the C.P.R. had an increase of 22,000 tons of freight over their shipments during the corresponding month in 1923. They handled 6,000 more tons of import and 16,000 tons more export.

The time used is Pacific standard, for the 120th Meridian West. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

TATJANA EXPECTED TO BE FLOATED BY END OF NEXT WEEK

Work of Patching Almost Completed by Tees; Favorable Tide Needed

Floating of the wrecked Norwegian freighter Tatjana, aground on Village Island, is expected to be undertaken about the latter part of next week. The Pacific Salvage Company, which is in charge of the operations, is dispatching the Tees to the scene again to-night with more equipment and all the preliminary work will be completed by next week for the floating of the vessel. The date set for the floating of the vessel, however, is indefinite as the tides have to be taken into consideration.

Already 10, 12 and 15-inch pumps, the largest on the Coast, have been installed aboard the vessel while patching work is progressing favorably. The vessel will be brought to Victoria if she is floated. The Tees leaves to-night at 6 o'clock.

The task of the salvagers is by no means an easy one. The hardest part is not yet over.

The vessel will have to be hauled out a short distance and then turned at an angle to avoid rocks directly astern. Several angles will have to be negotiated before the vessel is launched into deep water. The vessel was hoisted into the natural basin in which she rests by a huge comber.

APPOINTED INDIAN AGENT AT KAMLOOPS

H. F. Helmsing, who has been Indian Agent at Cranbrook for the past two years, has been transferred to the vacancy at Kamloops, according to an announcement made by Indian Commissioner W. E. Ditchburn to-day.

Mr. Helmsing formerly resided here with his wife, but the disabilities due to war service which on more than one occasion affected him here, sending him into hospital, have been aggravated in the altitudes of the Kootenay, and the department has acceded to his wish to be transferred on the first opportunity.

The Kootenay agency is very scattered, there being only 500 Indians on six reservations, whereas the Kamloops agency to which he is appointed has 2,750 Indians on seventy-two reservations.

Mrs. Helmsing continued in Cranbrook that interest in music which made her very popular here, and her loss is severely felt in that section.

The department now has two vacancies in its district agents in British Columbia namely the Queen Charlotte Islands, and the Kootenay. Both appointments will be filled through the Civil Service Commission.

WEAK MEN STRENGTHENED WITH A HOME TREATMENT

They Are Told To Stop Worrying, Create Red Blood, Nourish Their Nerves And Be Strong Again

The nerve power, bodily strength and vitality of every man and woman depends on the blood. Create more red blood cells, make the blood pure and rich and we rekindle the fires of strength, for the blood is the supreme force of life.

If we lack strength or our nerve force is exhausted we should think first of the condition of our blood. We should enrich the blood and then, through the new vigor and nerve strength that comes with red blood, regain the health, energy and happiness that is our rightful heritage.

Weak, discouraged men and women should get from their druggist without delay a bottle of Wincarnis, the wonderful blood builder. Wincarnis is so effective that only three tablespoonfuls a day are taken, so that the cost is only ten cents a day and Wincarnis often gives amazing results in from eight to twelve days.

No need to worry any longer, Wincarnis will give you new strength, vitality, nerve power. (Advt.)

Victim of Northern Accident Won Distinction Overseas

Shortly after John's birth the family moved to New Westminster.

The boy was sent to Bishop Scott Academy, Portland for his education, and later graduated at McGill University, Montreal. He commenced his practice in the neighborhood of New Westminster, and afterwards went to Central B.C. during the construction of the Canadian Northern Pacific Railway through the Rockies to the North Thompson River.

He was attached to an infantry battalion which left here early in 1915, and remained overseas until the Armistice. He won the military cross, and reached the rank of major.

He returned in 1919, and was attached to the Esquimalt Hospital for a year, until it closed. Then Dr. Briggs was named medical health officer in the Queen Charlotte Islands for both the Dominion and Provincial authorities, and left those offices a year ago to join the Buckley Bay Lumber Company as medical officer.

The family are his wife, and baby girl, his mother, Mrs. T. L. Briggs, New Westminster, two sisters Misses Naomi, and Manuela, at home, and five brothers, William, at Revelstoke, Harry C. Briggs, of this city, Thomas A. at New Westminster, Stanley K. at Wood Fibre and Earle, at Portland, Oregon.

SCOUT TALK OF OLIVER RUNNING IN TWO RIDINGS

Sure of Leading Polls Here, His Friends Assert; Parties Active in North

Reports broadcast by W. J. Bowser, K.C., Conservative leader, that Premier Oliver would run in two constituencies in the next provincial election caused amusement among his friends to-day. The Premier, they asserted, did not need to be a candidate in two ridings to make sure of election. He will head the polls here, it is generally expected.

The rumor that Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, will run in Nanaimo and Cowichan-Newcastle also was greeted with smiles at the Parliament Buildings.

Reports from the North indicate that in the new Skeena riding there will be a three-cornered fight. The Conservative standard-bearer will probably be R. S. Sargent of Hazelton, although a well-known Telkwa resident is also mentioned in the event of Sargent not wishing to run.

Several names are mentioned as possible Liberal candidates, among them being Olaf Hanson of Smithers; E. T. Kenney of Terrace; James Turnbull of Hazelton; L. L. Devoin, Frank Foster, L. B. Warner, W. S. Henry and J. Mason Adams of Smithers. The first-named is conceded to be the strongest contender.

Provincial Party adherents in Skeena are grooming C. R. Gilbert of Terrace, for the race and he will probably receive the nomination for the McRae followers.

No conventions have been held in this riding as yet although an announcement is expected soon.

TELLS OF CANADA'S MOUNTAIN HERITAGE

A. O. Wheeler Addresses the Kiwanis Club; Urges Park Protection

"I know of no other influence so potent and beneficial in the building and moulding of character which is the foundation of good citizenship, as our mountain ranges," said A. O. Wheeler, Provincial Boundary Commissioner, Topographer of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa for many years, and a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society, in his address to-day at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club in the Chamber of Commerce Auditorium. "The reason is that we who climb mountains, and dwell in the great open spaces, facing danger, hardship and even death together, seeing the great and awesome beauties of unadulterated nature, learn the principles fundamental to the best citizenship, and profit by these experiences. Herein lies the value of our mountains."

THE VALUE OF MOUNTAINS

It was impossible, the speaker continued, to find two mountain ranges alike. The Alps, Himalayas, Rockies, and any other range one cared to name, all were distinctly different, and had features of their own. But they were all alike in one respect at least—they inspired a spirit of awe. He referred to them as the factories of the earth; they were actually the beginning of things. In tracing a great river through the prairie lands towards its source, the stream gradually grew smaller, he said, branching off in tributaries, and is found eventually rising amidst the high plateaus and foothills of some vast range of peaks. Then, later, it might be found emerging from some gaping cavern, overhung by a mass of glacial ice, where it churned and foamed out of the innermost parts of the earth. There went on a constant process of grinding, and the water carried the rock dust thus formed over the river bed and into the alluvial lands where the nations's crops were finest, and the land the most fertile. In the mountains, then, is to be found the workshop of the world, he said.

STRANGE DISCOVERY

He told of many of his experiences in climbing peaks of the Rockies, asserting that he had never seen such beauty as was to be found in the greatest of America's ranges. On one occasion, when working in the Athabaska pass he came across a number of round, old-fashioned bullets. His companion was vastly interested in the find, and went to the trouble of looking up the records of old explorers to see if the history of the bullets might not be ascertained. Sure enough, in the authentic reports of David Thompson's expedition of 1811, the story of the bullets was found. In this report it was stated that when a store of provisions and supplies had been temporarily abandoned by the expedition, a bag of bullets was the only thing that was mislaid when the party returned to their "cache." They had thought at the time that a wolverine had carried these away. One hundred and ten years later a surveying party found David Thompson's bullets.

PRESERVE THE PARKS

The speaker urged the Kiwanis Club to stand as a body behind the preservation schemes for the protection of Canada's magnificent parks. At the present time this is the only body in Victoria which has pledged its support to the movement, he said, but he had hopes of obtaining the support and co-operation of many more such organizations in the future, he said. In Vancouver, he asserted, there were 75,000 persons behind the movement for the preservation of Canadian National Parks. Victoria should be equally well represented, he thought.

The Club enjoyed the vocal selections of Charles Conyers, accompanied by Mrs. Conyers and extended a hearty vote of thanks to the performers.

RECOGNIZES HIS EFFORTS

Carl Stocker was the recipient of a handsome gift in recognition of the valuable work he has done in connection with the Kiwanis Minstrel show. Mr. Stocker replied fittingly on receiving two beautifully upholstered willow chairs.

The speaker of the day was introduced by Dr. A. O. MacRae, headmaster of the University School here.

Pioneer Musician And Baker Dead

The funeral of the late Franz Louis Wille, a well-known pioneer baker of this city, will take place from the Sands Funeral Chapel tomorrow at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in Ross Bay Cemetery.

The late Mr. Wille was born in Switzerland, seventy-six years ago. He came to the Pacific Coast in 1866 in the quest for gold and established himself at New Westminster. There he lived for several years before coming to Victoria. Here he established a bakery at 537 Johnson Street, which he conducted for nearly half a century. A lover of music, Mr. Wille, was in his early days organist of St. John's Church, Douglas Street, and one of the first musicians in the then famous Hottentot band. He passed away on Saturday evening at the residence, 537 Johnson Street.

He is survived by his widow; five sons, Messrs. F. L. (Vancouver), H. E. (Anchorage, Alaska), G. G. (Seattle), C. R. (Modesto, Cal.), and F. R. Wille (Victoria); by one sister, Mrs. Graw (Victoria).

DEATH OF SIDNEY PIONEER FARMER

Saanich lost one of its best-known pioneers yesterday in the death at St. Joseph's Hospital of Andrew Berquist of Sidney at the age of eighty-one years. The late Mr. Berquist was a native of Stockholm, Sweden, and came to this country in his youth. He purchased a farm at Sidney, and had resided there for over thirty years. He is survived by his widow and three children, Mrs. S. K. Halseth of Sidney, Captain Berquist of Victoria and Vancouver, and Mrs. H. Patterson of Britannia Beach.

The remains are now at the Sands Chapel, and will be removed tomorrow to Sidney for burial at 3.30 o'clock in the afternoon. Burial will be in the Holy Trinity Cemetery, North Saanich.

O. M. JONES CHAPTER

A special meeting of the Dr. O. M. Jones Chapter, I.O.D.E., will be held to-night at the home of Mrs. Ivel, 49 Wellington Street.

TRAINS MEMBERS IN PUBLIC SPEAKING

Gyro's Young Reformers Have Ideas For Making Life Happier

Gyros did their own talking at their luncheon to-day, members of the club filling the role of speakers. The entertainment committee has arranged to bring on the members in public-speaking, and at regular intervals they are called upon to prepare subjects.

Gordon Cameron told the Gyros what he would do if he were the police magistrate, and intimated that before he passed judgment on any prisoner he would at first sound out public opinion, and see what sentence should be imposed. He also said that he would recommend to the City Council a zone system for Victoria, whereby pedestrians would be allowed only certain places at which to cross, and jay-walking would be eliminated.

Dick Pullen announced that if he were a dentist he would immediately plan to reform the profession so as to give the patient a sporting chance. He thought dentists should be trained in the art of wrestling, and concluding by stating that he "would take the tooth brush by the handle, and make dentistry safe for democracy."

Fred Bartholomew had a lot of suggestions to throw out in the event of his sudden ascension to the post of chairman of the liquor board. After satisfying the various requests of the public he considered he would be entitled to raise his own salary.

Harry Lewis had some novel innovations for druggists. As a specialist in baby accessories he thought the druggists should double their service between 11 o'clock and 4 o'clock in the morning in order to see that the babies were well cared for. He suggested live models in all windows on which to demonstrate cosmetics.

The Gyros orchestra was in attendance and supplied some good music.

PRESENTATION TO METCHOSIN HOSTESS

On Easter Monday Metchosin Tennis Club opened for the season with a large attendance, several new members were welcomed and many visitors dropped in during the afternoon to watch the play, which was very lively, an impromptu tournament being in progress. During the Winter many improvements have been made to the grounds and appearances are very hopeful for the 1924 season. A splendid tea pavilion has been erected and fitted with a generous supply of tea things, and members can conveniently serve tea at any time. A committee of ladies will arrange the tea on club days, Mondays. The hostesses on this occasion were Mesdames E. C. Pope and M. M. Brown and Miss F. I. Blythe, who served delightful refreshments.

During the afternoon Miss Blythe, on behalf of the club, presented Mrs. A. D. Ellwood with a beautiful silver cake plate as a token of kindly appreciation of her entertaining last Summer when the club had no pavilion.

On Friday, April 25, inst., the Tennis Club will hold a dance in the Metchosin Hall. The music will be supplied by Ray Kinlock's orchestra, there will be cards for those who do not dance, and refreshments will be served. A large attendance is expected, as the club dances have always been jolly and successful.

Players' Club of B.C. University Will Come Here

Collegians Will Present Play Here in Aid of Jubilee Hospital Building

The Players' Club of the University of British Columbia, at the invitation of the Victoria Kiwanis Club, and under the management of that organization, will present in this city on May 30 a play entitled "The World and His Wife." This is a powerful drama.

Harold Diggon, who with Carl Stocker, will manage the producing end of the show, states that the Kiwanis Club has assumed full responsibility for the production here and adds that it is imperative for all members to do their utmost in supporting the scheme and in trying to make it financially, and in every other way, a success.

The proceeds will go towards the building fund of the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital.

SAYS MASTER OF TANKER LEFT HIM STRANDED AT DOCK

Chileans Deny Aggression in Scrimmage on Ss Santa Maria

Wounded Seaman, Michael McMahon, Collapses in Court

That the master of the Santa Maria, a British oil tanker in charter to the Imperial Oil Company, failed to take action on his complaint that he had been knifed in a scrimmage on board and left him standing on the dock at Esquimalt while the ship pulled out into the stream with his clothing and personal effects, was the allegation made by Michael McMahon in the Provincial Police Court this morning.

McMahon accused Teodora Santibanes, Pedro Maturana and Daniel Nave Parro of assault. At the close of a spirited hearing Santibanes was sentenced to three months' hard labor; Daniel Parro was given one month at hard labor, and Pedro Maturana was discharged.

McMahon collapsed before the end of the hearing and was ordered to hospital by Dr. Hermann Robertson, appearing as a witness. Dr. Robertson examined a wound in the foot of McMahon and expressed surprise that the man had been held at the Immigration Building instead of being in hospital. The complainant was rushed to hospital in the police ambulance.

On the stand before his collapse McMahon told of being awakened to find a number of Chileans in his room. He identified Teodora Santibanes as the man who had hold of his hair when he woke up and in whose hand he saw a pocket knife during the fight.

Daniel Nave Parro, said the accused, had a knife but did not use it. Pedro Maturana, said the complainant further, held off a fellow Chilean with a cudgel when that man appeared about to give him, McMahon, aid.

Robert Owens, Chief Constable of the Provincial Police, told of finding McMahon alone on the wharf at Esquimalt, and the subsequent chase of the Santa Maria in a pilot launch. Once on deck witness called on the captain to muster the crew, whereupon McMahon had picked out the three accused without hesitation.

Dr. Hermann Robertson said he was called to Esquimalt at midnight on Saturday to find McMahon with the skin around the right eye laid open. It took a hospital operation with six stitches to put it right. McMahon had other bruises and cuts. Asked by the police to examine the wound in McMahon's foot witness ordered the accused to hospital without delay.

Teodora Santibanes, taking the stand in defence, denied McMahon's version of the fight entirely. He said McMahon had struck him with a stick, and denied possession of any knife. Witness added that he had had no quarrel with McMahon, and did not understand what it was all about.

The hearing continues with Sidney Child for the defence, and Chief Constable Owens for the prosecution.

Woman Commandant London Police Stirs New York Flappers

New York, April 22.—Flirty flapper motorists who yesterday threw admiring glances at a handsome, efficient and new traffic officer stationed at busy Lexington Avenue and 42nd Street, were chagrined to-day to learn that their smiles had been wasted on one of their own sex.

She wanted first-hand information on traffic regulations so she was permitted to replace the regular officer at the bustling corner.

Miss Allen does not own a skirt. Under her long uniform coat she wears riding trousers. Her hair is cut short at the back and over the ears—not bobbed. They don't permit this on the London force, she explained.

Harry Jones Is New Golf Champ of the Province

Never Used Brassie in Finals Which He Won From Jack Fraser by Six and Four

Mrs. Hutchings Victorious in Ladies' Final, Defeating Mrs. Sweeny Five and Four

MICKEY JONES

Vancouver, April 22.—Before an audience of 600, Harry Jones won the B.C. amateur golf championship on the Shaughnessy course yesterday afternoon, defeating Jack D. Fraser, Shaughnessy Club champion, 6 and 4, in a match much more even than the score would indicate.

In the ladies' event, Mrs. Harold Hutchings of Winnipeg, fresh from her victories in California, defeated Mrs. S. C. Sweeny, city champion, and winner of the P.N.G.A. title on three occasions, by five and four.

The games were closely followed by a large coterie of enthusiastic golfers who frequently applauded the clever shots made by each player. It was an ideal day for golf, with bright sunshine and no wind to interfere with the flight of the ball. The greens and fairways were in splendid condition.

The gentlemen's final was featured by the wonderful iron work and putting of Harry Jones. It is interesting to note that not once in the entire thirty-six holes did he use his brassie. In the morning, Jones steadied down first and this no doubt accounts for his big lead at the halfway mark. He took the lead at the first hole and was never down to his opponent during the match. His tee shots were not up to his usual standard which probably accounts for him not using his brassie.

JONES WAS ACCURATE

Jack Fraser was better in his driving, but his seconds were not always true. Breaks were about even in the game but Fraser lost through better accuracy of the winner. Jones finished the morning round with an approximate seventy-seven as against an approximate eighty-four for Fraser.

In the afternoon Jones had a score of sixty-one to the end of the fourteenth hole where the match ended. Fraser's afternoon score was sixty-three.

The total for the day was approximately 138 for the winner against 147 for the Shaughnessy Club champion.

Both deserve great credit for keeping the championship in B.C., Fraser having previously disposed of the Seattle star, Bon Stein; C. D. Hunter of Tacoma, A. Bull of Jericho and Noel Macfarlane. Jones had earlier won from P. Trail, Bob Bone, J. H. Edmonds, Victoria, and W. C. Brynjolfson, also of Victoria.

LONG DRIVING

Mrs. Harold Hutchings, the noted Winnipeg star, who recently won the Southern California title, emerged victorious over Mrs. S. C. Sweeny, city champion, and hold of the P.N. G. title, five and four. The feature of this match, which was followed by a large gallery, was the driving, which was exceptionally long for ladies, and would do credit to many men in the accuracy of their shots.

Special interest was taken in the fourth hole, when both ladies had lovely drives and very good seconds. Mrs. Sweeny was away and playing first, pitched to within two feet of the hole. Mrs. Hutchings, showing wonderful nerve, emulated her opponent's example, and landed her ball three feet from the cup. Both holed out birdie fours. For their display the ladies were heartily applauded by the enthusiasts who followed every stroke with great interest.

Harry Jones, better known in the sport world as "Mickey," is a prominent athlete in many lines of sport. He is a fine amateur hockey player and has played here o nmany occasion, his last appearance being with the Towers this Winter. "Mickey" is a son of the noted Vancouver sportsman, Con Jones.

New York, April 22.—Negotiations for a 15-round fight to a decision for the light heavyweight championship of the world between Mike McTigue, the titleholder, and Young Stribling progressed yesterday when Paddy Mullins, manager of McTigue, was offered $35,000 for the bout at Atlanta, Macon, or Columbus, Ga.

Mullins is considering the proposition which includes acceptance of a referee selected by the New York Boxing Commission.

FOLEY GAINS A DRAW

Leavenworth, Wash., April 22.—"Doc" Snell, of Peshastin, fought Vic Foley, Vancouver, B.C., chalmant of the bantamweight championship of the Pacific Northwest, six rounds to a draw here last night. Snell carried the fight to Foley most of the way.

Danny Carlson, of Seattle, and Patsy Herbert of Wenatchee, fought six rounds to a draw in the semi-windup.

FIRST TENNIS PRO

ST. L. K. VERLEY

After giving careful consideration to the matter Mr. Verley has decided to forsake his amateur tennis standing and become a professional. He is to work in conjunction with the Victoria Tennis Club and will give instruction to all who desire it. He is the first tennis pro in British Columbia and his duties will be something along the same lines as those of a golf pro.

The decision of Mr. Verley to forsake amateur tennis means that Victoria loses a player of outstanding ability. He is the present British Columbia champion and has appeared in many big tournaments both in the East and South.

Verley is a player with a style all his own and which he has used to win many championship trophies in the West. He states that if the game on the Coast is to be improved for the future the young players of the day must be given expert training. His decision to turn professional will mean that one of the most dependable and consistent players in British Columbia will be missing from the roster of entries from mainland and B.C. championships this year.

Ponies Romp Once Again at Willows Before Fair Crowd

Two Races Did Not Finish Satisfactory But Some Good Running Was Seen

Those people who attended the horse races at the Willows Park yesterday afternoon, staged under the auspices of the Victoria Riding and Polo Club, were rewarded by witnessing some well-fought races. The annual Victoria steeplechase caused a great deal of excitement among the spectators, but owing to some misunderstanding about the course one of the riders dropped out, which caused some disappointment. In the Oak Bay flat race the riders got away to a false start and as one of the horses was left at the barrier the judges decided it was no race, but the remaining riders refused to compete again.

In the harness races George Foster, driven by W. Millington, captured first place in both heats, while Victoria R., driven by W. J. Rennie, was second.

In the half-mile trotting race May Glen, driven by W. Millington, captured first honors, while Edna May, driven by J. Finerty, came in second.

The other results were:

Pony galloway, five furlongs—1, Dolly, owned by Mrs. Matthews and ridden by Mrs. Winter; 2, Bill, owned by T. Weeks and ridden by J. Weeks; 3, King Tut, owned by H. J. Sims and ridden by J. Short.

Victoria steeplechase, about two miles—1, Smiling Morn, owned by Mrs. Vimpany and ridden by Mr. Foster; 2, Judy, owned by Mrs. Best and ridden by Lieut. Carley; 3, Chief, Garrison entry, ridden by Col. Greer, Major Craig's mount did not finish.

Farmers' race, five furlongs—1, Tom Tatters, owned by Miss Dun and ridden by Miss Gouge; 2, The Ghost, owned by E. Eve and ridden by Mrs. Winter, 3, King Tut, owned by H. J. Sims and ridden by J. Short.

Cochrane; medical officer, Dr. Bapty; veterinary surgeon, Dr. Keown; measurer, W. MacKenzie; starter, W. Gargan; timekeeper, W. H. Wilkerson; ringmaster, Capt. Proby.

Duncan Football Team Just Nosed Out by Veterans

Up-islanders Played Fine Game and Went Down to Defeat by Odd Goal in Three

Duncan's famous football eleven made its initial appearance in Victoria yetserday afternoon with the Veterans as their opponents. The visitors were defeated by two goals to one after a very interesting game. A fair crowd of spectators watched the game.

Several weeks ago the Veterans journeyed to Duncan for a game, and yesterday the upislanders came down for the return match. The strong wind which was blowing was a determining factor in the game, all three goals being scored when the wind was in the back of the teams. In the first half Duncan scored with the aid of the wind, R. Thorne putting a smart shot passed Bridges. In the second half the Veterans had the wind with them and Cummins and Owens succeeded in beating the Duncan goalie with fast drives.

TRY OUT NEW MATERIAL

The Veterans did not field the team which has been performing during the past few weeks. They tested out a number of players who are to wear their colors in the Connaught Cup series. It gave the officials of the club a good chance to get a line on the material on hand. The Veterans played hard and strenuously and needed to in order to hold Duncan.

The visitors played a very fine game and the three Indians were a treat to watch, having plenty of speed and good football ability. The team, considering the amount of competition it gets, showed up extremely well.

The line-ups were:

Veterans — Bridges; White and Campbell; Warde, Owen and Strood; Sheritt, Cummins, Wright, Merifield and Preston.

Duncan—Jones; Green and Bradshaw; Corbishley, Robertson and Ponsalt; Harry, R. Thorne, W. Thorne, Elliott and C. Thorne.

George Elliott of Duncan was referee.

French Flier Has Entered Air Race

New York, April 22.—The Pulitzer air race, to be held at Dayton, Ohio, in October will this year become an international event for the first time by the entry of Sadi Lecointe, the French holder of the world's altitude record. Frederick B. Patterson, president of the Aeronautical Association, made this announcement last night.

GREAT FRENCH HORSE WHICH WILL PAY VISIT TO UNITED STATES THIS SUMMER FOR RACES

EPINARD

Word from France is that Epinard, called "the best race horse in Europe," is prepping splendidly for the speeder's American invasion, which is set for late in the Summer. Epinard will run three races in America, meeting the best of picked fields. The exact conditions under which the races will be run and the identity of the opposition will be worked out later. This is a new picture of the great horse and was taken this Spring in France.

Two Football Games on Tap for To-morrow

Wednesday League Will Stage Double-Header at the Royal Athletic Park

Two football games are on the Wednesday League's schedule for to-morrow. A double-header will be staged at the Royal Athletic Park, with the Hudson's Bay meeting Cranleigh House at 2.30 o'clock, and the Garrison playing Broad Street at 4 o'clock. Both games are expected to be hard-fought battles and should provide plenty of excitement for the midweek fans.

The first game between the Bays and the students should be a thriller as the schoolboys will be right out after the scalps of the departmental store eleven. At present the Bays are holding down second berth, while Cranleigh is in the cellar position. With the close of the season near at hand the latter are anxious to chalk up one more win to their credit, while the Bays will field their strongest line-up and will be taking no chances of losing the game.

The second game, between the Tommies and Broad Street, should also prove interesting, as Broad Street will make a supreme effort to hand one more defeat to their old rivals. They have defeated the leaders once this season but the Tommies say it won't happen again.

Word has been received by officials of the Garrison football club to the effect that the D.F.A. has sustained their appeal over the decision of the Lower Island Football Association on the Teamsters-Garrison. As a result of this decision the game is to stay as played. This gives the Tommies another couple of points lead.

Hudson's Bay line-up: Shrimpton, Haines, Gardener, Obie, Sewel, McKay, Woodley, King, T. Hawkes, Hawkes, Woodley, Sweeney and Sutter.

DOMINION BOXING

Montreal, April 22.—The Dominion boxing championships which will have an important bearing on the Olympic trials will be decided here Friday and Saturday of this week.

Athletes Gathering At Philadelphia For Big Relay Carnival

Philadelphia, April 22.—Franklin Field to-day was turned over to the British and Canadian athletes here to compete in the Pennsylvania relay carnivals Friday and Saturday. Members of the Cambridge University track team and Eric Liddell, the University of Edinburgh sprinter, had their first workout yesterday. To-day they will be joined by the Canadian teams from Hamilton Collegiate Institute and Hamilton Technical High School. Doubt was expressed to-day as to whether Captain Bristowe of Cambridge, would be able to run in the sprint relay Friday. He is troubled with an attack of rheumatism.

Tilden Resigns From U.S. Teams Causing a Stir

Objects to Tennis Association Calling Him an "Evil Influence"

Champion Will Not Play in Davis Cup or Olympic Games

Philadelphia, April 22.—Wm. Tilden, eleven, National Tennis Champion, yesterday announced his resignation as a member of the American Davis Cup, and Olympic teams.

New York, April 22.—Wm. T. Tilden's announcement in Philadelphia of his withdrawal as a member of the 1924 American Olympic and Davis Cup teams created a sensation in tennis circles here yesterday but official of the United States Lawn Tennis Association declined to comment upon the champion's unexpected decision.

It was pointed out, however, by a member of the Davis Cup committee, which selected Tilden for this year's international contests, that the committee felt no embarrassment over the situation caused by Tilden's status as a player-writer, which the champion gave as the reason for his step. Had such been the case, it was said, Tilden would have been advised of it without hesitancy.

IN GOOD STANDING

Tilden, it was emphasized, is in good amateur standing this year, so far as the U.S.L.T.A. is concerned, although recently he was informed that under the player-writer rule, which goes into effect next January, he would be ineligible for amateur play in 1925 if he continued newspaper writing on his present scale.

At a conference with tennis officials on this point recently, however, Tilden, it was understood, came to an amicable understanding with the U.S.L.T.A. after a thorough discussion of his case.

The letter is as follows:

"From the report of the amateur rules committee of March 15, 1924, made public on Saturday last, a copy of which was mailed to me, I learn with astonishment that the player-writer in general, and I in particular, am regarded by the committee as not only no longer an amateur, but as an 'evil influence' in the game.

"As my name is used in the report there can be no doubt that I am regarded by the committee as such an 'evil influence.'

REMOVE "EVIL INFLUENCE"

"Since it is inconceivable that the association would desire the presence on the Olympic or Davis Cup squads for 1924 of such an 'evil influence,' I, although I do not for a moment concede either the fairness or correctness of the committee's intrepretation of the amateur rule or of my standing thereunder, tender to you my resignation as a member of both squads.

"I do this to believe the association of the embarrassment and to save them from criticism which will be theirs if they take the initiative in the matter.

"I do not regard myself as violating either the spirit or letter of the amateur rule, and I certainly do not consider myself an 'evil influence' in the game, but your report clearly states that in the eyes of the committee I am.

"Since the executive committee has already unofficially expressed itself in favor of professionalizing me next year, should the present conditions continue, they must clearly regard me as a professional now.

MUST RECOGNIZE STANDING

"I resign with regret but self respect compels me to do so. I wish you and the committee to know that my services are at your disposal when my amateur status is clearly recognized.

"Trusting that the cup will long remain on our shores and wishing the committee and the team all success in 1924 challenge rounds, I am,

"Very Sincerely,
"William T. Tilden, II."

"William T. Tilden, II."

Wrestlers Shriek, Bite and Fight in Montreal Tourney

Englishman Flops American, While Hebrew is Razzed and Siki is Twisted

Montreal, April 22.—The international wrestling tournament that will run here for the next two or three weeks, commenced at the Mount Royal Arena last night with four matches on the programme.

The first was between Gobar, Hindu wrestler, and Koraineck, Lithuanian, with 235 and 194 pounds weight respectively. It ended in eight minutes with an easy win for the Hindu.

The match between Wladek Zbyszko and Joe Boganz, Hebrew, ended in a draw with the latter the butt of the crowd for his violent tactics. Boganz indulged in biting, fighting and ignoring the repeated warnings of the referee.

Frank Hudson, of Harvard University, and Reginald Siki, of Abyssinia, came next and this bout also ended in a draw. The ability of both men to take severe punishment was evident, although Siki writhed in agony at one time and there were cries for medical assistance, he resumed the match, however.

The match of the night between Nicholas Lutze, of the United States, and Harry Stevens, of England, was scheduled for two hours, but ended in fifteen minutes, when Stevens defeated Lutze with a head scissors hold.

WILL LEAD WHITE SOX

When Frank Chance, known as the "peerless leader" found it impossible to stand the eastern climate he had to place his resignation as manager of the Chicago White Sox in the hands of the old Roman, Charles Comiskey. Evers, who played second base for the Chicago Cubs when Chance was at first base, was assistant manager at the time and he has been promoted to direct the White Sox for the rest of the season. Evers is usually referred to as the "crab" for he is a rare enemy of umpires. He knows baseball, however, and may improve the standing of the Sox.

Victoria Girls' Roller Hockey Team Wins Title

Fine Shooting of Toria Rennie Causes Downfall of the Seattle Squad

Another championship was brought to the city last night when at the Amories the Victoria girls' roller hockey team defeated a representative squad from Seattle by the score of three goals to two. As a result of their victory the local team now claims the championship of the Pacific Coast. Last night's game was hard fought from start to finish and overtime had to be played before the winner was determined. A large crowd of fans turned out to witness the game. The fine shooting of Miss Rennie was responsible for the survival of the Victorians. She scored the winning goal.

The visitors got away to a flying start and before a few minutes had elapsed Mary Turnbull put them one up on a long shot from centre. The local girls sent in a few shots but the spectacular goal-tending of Geraldine House for Seattle kept the visitors net free.

SMART SHOOTING

A few minutes later Seattle went further into the lead when Frances Casey scored on a wicked shot in the goal mouth. This seemed to put new life into the Victoria team and Toria Rennie brought the house down when she scored the locals' first goal. With time drawing near this same player scored her second goal by beating the visiting net custodian with a close-in shot.

Five minutes overtime was played and Miss Rennie once again brought joy to the hearts of the local supporters when she scored the winning goal by working her way through the whole Seattle team.

George Cummings refereed and the teams were as follows:

Victoria—L. Wilby, M. Mable, C. Wyles, G. Rennie, T. Rennie, M. McAllister, M. Hatchett, J. Andrews, E. Dinsdale and W. Henderson.

Seattle—G. House, S. Turnbull, R. Gallaher, F. Casey, M. Turnbull, M Dempsey and M. Barry.

BOWLING RECORD

Indianapolis, Ind., April 22.—Mrs. Gene Acker and Mrs. G. Smith of Chicago set up a new world's record with a score of 1,124 in the doubles event of the women's national bowling tournament here yesterday. The former record was 1,079, made in 1921 by Mrs. P. Ley and Mrs. G. Legge of Chicago.

British Billiard Player Sets Mark For Fast Scoring

Moose Jaw, April 22.—Claude Falkiner, the British billiardist touring Canada, made what is claimed to be a world's record for fast scoring when he ra- up 85 points in 1 minute and 20 seconds here yesterday while playing against a local man in an exhibition game. The break was unfinished.

Aston Villa and Newcastle Meet for Second Time

Finalists in English Cup This Year Repeating Encounter of 19 Years Ago

Villa's Stock Went Soaring Yesterday Following Victory Over Newcastle

London, April 22 (By Canadian Press).—When Aston Villa and Newcastle United meet at Wembley Stadium in the Association football cup final game on Saturday, April 26, they will be repeating an encounter of nineteen years earlier—except for the ground on which it was played—when Aston Villa defeated Newcastle by two goals to none. Another fact about the 1905 game was that it was the first time that Newcastle had got as far as the final as compared with the fact that Aston had figured in it as winner or runner-up four times previously.

This year both teams have had a hard time in their struggle for the Blue Ribbon of English Association football. Aston Villa have defeated Ashington, Swansea, Leeds United, West Bromwich and Burnley, while Newcastle United have eliminated Portsmouth, Derby County, Watford, Liverpool and Manchester City. Of the two Newcastle have had the worse time, and they played eight games to overcome the five teams between them and the final. In the last three of those games their defence was not pierced.

VILLA'S STOCK IS UP

The stock of Aston Villa went soaring to-day after the defeat inflicted yesterday in a league match on Newcastle. The Villa won by 6-1. The match was played on the Villa grounds and the two teams were not at full strength. However, the moral triumph of the Villa is bound to be encouraging to the Birmingham team, though it is a notorious fact that form and league standing are not good guides to result in cup tie games.

Aston Villa commenced their cup tie career when they won the cup in 1867, and since that year they have won it in 1896, 1897, 1905, 1913 and 1920, and have been runners-up once in 1892.

Newcastle have only won the cup once—in 1910—but they were runners-up in 1905, 1906, 1908 and 1911.

The fact that this year Aston Villa commemorated their golden jubilee as a club would seem to be an incentive to the team to make it also the seventh time they have taken away the football cup.

CUP'S HISTORY

The Association cup was first contested in the 1871-2 season when Wanderers won it from the Royal Engineers. In those days it was an amateur affair and continued so for the first dozen years of its career when the professional clubs stepped in. From the time Blackburn Rovers won it in the 1883-84 season it has always been won by a professional club. Only two clubs have accomplished the double feat of heading the league table and capturing the cup in the same season. These were Preston North End in 1888-89 and Aston Villa in 1896-97. Another cup tie fact with which Aston are associated was the stealing of the cup from a shop window in Birmingham in 1895, when that team were holders.

TO HANDLE BIG CROWD

The final was played for the first time at Wembley Stadium last year when the crowd was so great that the management could not handle it, and there were scenes approaching near-riot. The crowd stormed the stadium walls and gates, and it is estimated that 200,000 persons saw the match. The official number of those who paid or were ticket-holders was 126,047, which established a record. Better arrangements for dealing with the crowds this year have been promised.

THIS IS RAISIN WEEK

Co-operation

This week, April 21 to 26, is National Raisin Week. More correctly it should be termed Sunmaid Raisin Week, for the celebration of it was first inaugurated by the Sunmaid Raisin Growers, who by co-operative effort have elevated the raisin packing industry from a speculation—generally disastrous—to a point of perfect production and successful marketing.

Co-operative Nature, employing beneficient sunshine and shower, and rich, fertile soil, produces the luscious, heavy grape. Midsummer sun evaporates the superfluous moisture, leaving only the sweet pulp and unbroken purple skin, and Sunmaid does the rest.

Co-operation, too, has converted dark, cobwebby, untidy packing sheds into sweet, sunny, hospital-clean plants, where white-clad helpers and gleaming machinery finish the work commenced by Nature in the vineyards. Seeds and stems are removed and the raisins are packed in the familiar red and blue cartons. Otherwise there is no change in the fruit, and it reaches you, except for this cleaning process, just as it leaves the fields.

Your baker forms a further segment in this circle, and with appetisingly prepared raisin foods invites you to complete the cycle which began in the far-off sunny valley.

The healthy energy hidden in raisin foods will help you cheerfully meet and face daily problems, both mental and physical, and the smiling Sunmaid, who reflects her message of health and beauty from all sides, demonstrates the possibilities of co-operation.

Join the round-the-world Sunmaid raisin clientele and celebrate Raisin Week enthusiastically this year.

Raisin toast for breakfast, raisin pie for lunch and raisin cake for tea—at your baker's. For "that tired feeling" try the smallest members of the Sunmaid family, the little Sunmaid 5c packages.

CANADA'S NEW CITIZENS.—Three hundred Hebrideans, who arrived at St. John, N.B., a few days ago, are here shown bidding farewell to their friends just as the C.P.R. liner Marloch is casting off at Lochboisdale, South Uist. Driven from their barren island by driving blizzards and the closing of foreign fish markets, these sturdy settlers hope to find life more congenial and profitable in Canada.

FIRST GUESS WRONG.—No, these are not Mohammedans at their evening prayers, but simply some English schoolboys trying to get through a net in the obstacle race at Bradfield College, Reading.

MYSTERIOUS SMALL CASE UP AGAIN.—One of the interesting exhibits in the Small will case is the above sheet of paper on which was scribbled by Ambrose J. Small, the agreement regarding the joint deposit of the $1,000,000 cheque at the time he made the deal for the sale of his theatrical properties. It reads as follows: "Cheque for $1,000,000 to be deposited in our joint names in Dominion Bank. A. J. Small, Theresa Small."

"MISTRESS SUNSHINE," of Australia, who has devoted many years to bringing happiness to thousands of children in the Antipodes. Her name is Mrs. J. A. Wilson and once a month she takes a caravan of 1,200 youngsters into the country, gives 10,000 Christmas bundles away and raised funds for a children's home.

MLLE. CURIE.—The beautiful Eva Curie, daughter of Mme. Curie of radium fame, is coming to America for a visit and piano concert tour this Summer. This is her latest picture.

NUN FIRST TO KISS CARDINAL'S RING.—This remarkable photograph was obtained following the celebration of his first mass by Cardinal Hayes. It shows a nun, on bended knees, who was the first to kiss the cardinal's new ring and was taken at the Church of Santa Sussana in Rome.

VACUUM STREET SWEEPER LATEST.—What vacuum cleaners have been to the family parlor the vacuum street sweeper will be to the city streets. Here is the first of these suction sweepers, which have made good in tryouts.

WET'S CHOICE.—Al Smith, "wet" governor of New York, who is being bomed by state Democrats for presidential nominee.

PIGEONS TAKE PLACE OF BABE. — When two young pigeons, newly wed, went on a house-hunting tour over the week-end, they flew into the window of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Miller, 78 Kingsmount Park Road, Toronto, and proceeded to build their nest in the crib by the window, which was usually occupied by the three-year-old son of the Millers. Below is the Miller boy whose crib became so unique a nesting place.

STORM CENTRE. — Francis J. Heney, who won fame as prosecutor in the San Francisco graft cases, again pops into the limelight through his appointment by Senator Cousens, Michigan, as a special examiner in alleged tax fraud matters. It was this that drew from President Coolidge a special message to the Senate protesting against "government by investigation."

TAKES THRONE.—First picture of King Fouad, recently appointed to Egypt's throne, as he appeared surrounded by royal appointments at the inauguration of the Egyptian parliament.

BUT THE TREE ONLY WINKED!—This old tree kept its secret well. But inquisitive boys, playing around its trunk, discovered a cleverly concealed opening down at the base. Prohibition Agent John Marcum crawled through the hole and discovered considerable moonshine had been cached within the massive sycamore. All this in the exclusive Highlands' residential district in Louisville, Ky. Federal authorities say it was a supply station for rum-running automobiles. Roy White, upon whose property the tree stands, was arrested.

GOOD NEWS FOR THE LADIES!—The Pullman Company is making traveling more comfortable for the ladies. Women's dressing rooms in all its new cars are considerably larger than formerly. The new length of the cars is the absolute maximum that can be used on the present standard curves in railroad tracks.

Wall Street TO-DAY

Last Minute News on Stocks and Financial Affairs

New York, April 22, 1924

STOCKS OFFER RESISTANCE TO SELLING

New York, April 22 (R. P. Clark Co., Limited)—The market displayed some further irregularity to-day with special weakness in isolated portions of the list. However, some of the so-called standard issues were inclined to steadiness and seemed to show signs of better support. The remarks by the President were read with much interest and constituted a constructive influence of the day. Foreign exchange were marked by advances in sterling and francs to new high levels for the year doubtless reflecting the favorable foreign advances touching on the Dawes report.

Some of the early reports of the carriers such as Union Pacific made good showings, and this may account for the relative strength of the rail department in the recent market unsettlement, bearish sentiment is very much in evidence in local circles, but the market in general seems to be offering more resistance to selling pressure.

We do not think this is the time to entertain bearish ideas even though special issues may move into lower ground.

BEARISH FEELING IN WALL STREET PERSISTS

(By B.A. Bond)—The stock market to-day made a few feeble attempts to rally in the early dealings and in one instance the market showed good support and suggested a good rally. However, the buying power petered out and there appeared to be absolutely no inclination on the part of the outsider to follow up the advances, especially in the industrial shares. There were a few strong features in the rails, although New Orleans, Texas and Mexico was quite weak during the greater part of the session. A few new lows were established during mid-session and toward the close it was difficult to find anyone who was anything but bearish on the market. Good judges of the market continue to look for lower prices as business conditions seem to be growing worse. Here and there the market gives evidence of substantial support, but there is enough liquidation coming in from time to time to prevent the short side from becoming untenable and it is rather easy to buy enough stocks to cover short lines and sharp rallies are thereby prevented.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

Winnipeg, April 22.—Under the influence of good buying to-day's wheat market was active throughout the session with prices holding very steady and closing ¼ cent higher for all futures. Fluctuations held within ⅝ cent, the lower spot being at the opening. Around the dollar mark for May, wheat offerings came out fast but at any fraction under the dollar the offerings were well absorbed.

GRAIN CONTINUED REACTIONARY TO-DAY

(R. P. Clark)—Wheat—Market reactionary to-day again. The disappointing cables had some effect in checking the demand, while the small receipts at all points created a more favorable attitude. The situation east of the Rockies is not at all weak when the bulk of the wheat commands substantial premiums.

Much stress has been placed on local stocks and there has been some fear expected that long would not care to take delivery.

However, with the present supplies melting away and not being replaced from a country movement, we are inclined to believe that the cash wheat will take care of itself.

The new crop outlook is still uncertain, with a short acreage northwest likely.

Believe that prices will run into good support on all setbacks.

Corn—With but little corn running to this market, and farmers not disposed to sell, the corn situation holds an element of strength which makes its hard to depress prices much.

The eastern hog runs showing an excess of 21,000 bushels over a year ago show that farm feeding is still heavy and the absence of the eastern demand is not as effective as it would be if there was any pressure to sell anywhere.

The Argentine crop of 274,000,000 bushels is a record breaker but no one has been banking on much of an export demand anyway.

Cash corn just a shade firmer relatively to-day, with sales of 67,000 bushels, market is in a trading position and would only sell on good rallies.

Oats—Trade limited but tone firm most of the day.

Selling scattered while commission houses were fair buyers. The cash market was steady with sales of 70,000 bushels. Seeding about finished in nearly all sections. Primary receipts about same as a year ago.

Chicago, April 22 (By B.A. Bond)—Grain markets continued the reaction which started yesterday and prices were carried a fraction lower for all futures. Corn showed the most resistance to pressure and gained on wheat from time to time. The selling was reported as coming from recent buyers who are disappointed at the slowness of the advance after the promising start a week ago. Indications seem to suggest a two-sided market for a few days, but traders have not given up their idea that the market is out of the rut and will go higher in the immediate future. The next few days should tell the story as the past two days reaction has been ample if the technical position is strong. There may be considerable liquidation of May contracts during the remainder of the month. It is difficult to say whether the cash situation is strong enough to hold present quotations for May deliveries.

MANAGER GOES NORTH TO WATCH MINE DEVELOP

Harry Heywood, well-known mining man of this city, left for the North to-day where he will direct the operations of the Terminus Mine during the Summer months. Mr. Heywood, who is manager of this property, will remain in Stewart until the operations at the mine are running smoothly, and until such time as they put the claims on the Bear River into good condition as a producing mine.

Mr. Heywood's experience in the mines of the North dates far back in history of the Province. He was in the Yukon during the "rush" when the whole world watched with breathless interest the tremendously rich output which the claims of the Yukon yielded. Later he became interested in mines in the Stewart region, and when the Terminus Mines Limited took over the claims which bear that company's name, he was appointed manager of the company.

The mine shows remarkable possibilities, and the average yield of one vein in silver is 421 ounces per ton. Assays of over 1,000 ounces per ton are not uncommon. The ore bodies are 100 feet wide and extend right across the property. Considerable values are locked for in the tunnel at present under construction.

P.-T. FEDERATION MEETS IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, April 22.—Mayor Owen delivered the opening address of welcome at the second annual convention of the Provincial Parent-Teacher Federation here this morning.

The presidential address was delivered by Mrs. James Muirhead, who is presiding. She spoke on some of the problems confronting both parents and teachers in the handling of children.

Mrs. A. V. Pankhurst, literature convener, gave an excellent report on the work of that committee. She said much had been done during the year. In addition to the eighty-eight affiliated associations many calls had come from groups thinking of organizing, from Women's Institutes and from places outside the province. She had sent copies of literature asked for to Nova Scotia, Alberta, Ontario, Manitoba and Colorado in the United States.

Mrs. Pankhurst read a short report on press and publicity.

EDUCATIONISTS TO HOLD CONVENTION IN VICTORIA SOON

Plan Extended Tour of Canada En Route From Coast to Coast

The itinerary of the Seeing-Canada tour of the Canadian Teachers' Federation en route to the annual convention in this city from August 12 to August 18, covers a wide field.

Dr. E. A. Hardy, vice-president of the Federation and R. E. Howe, president of the Provincial Association of Protestant Teachers, Quebec, in conjunction with the Canadian Pacific Railway, have completed the final arrangements for the tour, which will last from August 4 to August 12, on which day the party arrives in Victoria. The train will start from Toronto and follows the main line of the C.P.R. Stop-overs varying in length of time from a few hours to a day will be made along the route, at Fort William, Port Arthur, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver and other points. The teachers will have an opportunity to see the cities at which they stop and the tour will thus be made all the more enjoyable.

Receptions are being planned for the travelers at the various towns and cities at which they stop. Luncheons, motor drives and various other forms of entertainment will add interest to the journey. They will be the guests of the Premier of the Province of Saskatchewan, Hon. C. A. Dunning, at Regina, and the Moose Jaw Board of Trade is arranging a tour of that city for them also. Receptions, under the auspices of the local teachers' associations in each of the cities they visit, are being planned. They will travel by special train both going and coming to and from Victoria.

The return journey East will be made over the Okanagan lines. The train will pass through Kootenay, Lake Windermere and other districts, proceeding to Vermillion River Camp, Banff, Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Kenora, Fort William, and across the Great Lakes by the Soo to Port McNichol and Toronto. The return trip lasts from August 17 to August 29. The party will stop over for dinner at Penticton, spend the night in Lake Windermere Camp, lunch at Vermillion River Camp, and spend a day in Banff, Edmonton, Winnipeg, and at the Devil's Gap Camp, Kenora.

Johnny Dundee is Battered by Boy With Rocky Name

Buffalo, April 22.—Rocky Kansas outpointed Johnny Dundee, world's featherweight and junior lightweight champion, in ten rounds here last night. Dundee's title was not at stake. Kansas weighed 134½, Dundee 132.

Dundee took a double knockdown in the seventh round. Kansas landed a stinging left to the mouth and crossed with a right that swept the champion from his feet. Dundee was up, to go down again with a smacking right to the chin. He got to his feet at the bell, with Kansas standing over him.

Kansas rushed the fighting strongly throughout the bout and traded blows with impunity. The opening rounds were slow, with Dundee forcing a clinch frequently and feeling out cautiously. Rocky rushed him to the ropes with two quick rights to the chin in the second round. Dundee came out in tearing fashion, but with little damage to Kansas.

CHAMPION MISSED

The champion missed many swings, and Rocky caught him off balance several times with a smart left jab which seemed to bother him. He laid himself open repeatedly to Rocky's heavy fists to head and body. In the seventh round a purple bruise showed under his left arm where Kansas had been battering him in the clinches.

With occasional flashes of brilliance, Johnny cut through Kansas' guard to whip in stinging lefts and rights, but his blows seemed to lack the power that was behind his opponent's persistent bombardment. His sallies melted against Kansas' stiff returns, and Rocky never was in serious trouble.

There was a possibility that a lightweight title match with Benny Leonard would result from last night's encounter.

Legal Proceedings Being Taken Over Carpentier's Visit

New York, April 22.—Legal proceedings to prevent Georges Carpentier, French light-heavyweight, from meeting Tom Gibbons, of St. Paul, in Michigan City, Ind., May 31, will be started in courts of Indiana immediately upon Carpentier's arrival in the United States Bill Gibson, manager of Gene Tunney, announced yesterday.

Gibson said he would base his application for an injunction on his contract with Descamps, the Frenchman's manager for a Carpentier-Tunney match. This, he asserted, contains a clause prohibiting Carpentier from engaging in any other match in the United States before meeting Tunney.

TAKING NO CHANCE

A report that Carpentier would be brought into this country through Canada in an attempt to escape possible litigation in New York, prompted Gibson's plan to seek his injunction in Indiana, the manager declared.

Descamps yesterday cabled Gibson from Vienna that Carpentier would fulfil his engagement to fight Tunney after the Gibbons match. He predicted that the Frenchman would knock out Gibbons.

HOW TELEPHONE TRANSFER ACTS

Company Placed in Quandary By Protestations

The B.C. Telephone Company has received a letter from the Victoria Chamber of Commerce on behalf of the protesting subscribers of the telephone service in Cedar Hill and Cadboro Bay, against the plan to transfer them from the city to the Gordon Head exchange.

This new exchange, which is now building for operation in June, will replace the existing one to which sixty-seven telephones are connected. It is proposed to transfer fifty-three subscribers in the areas named to the exchange, with the reduction to them of monthly rates which prevail between city and suburban exchanges. Of the fifty-three affected not more than twenty, it is stated, oppose the change, and the company is in the position that as soon as it can give service there are more prospective subscribers anxious to join the Gordon Head Exchange than are affected by the threatened withdrawals. Thus while the company desires to adopt a conciliatory attitude, it stands to lose some subscribers in order to be in a position to give a service to others on roads a little farther out of the city.

ROAD BLOCKED BY MOTORISTS

Arizona Traffic Embargo Led to Unusual Incident Near Needles, Cal.

48,796 Farm Animals Killed Since Disease Broke Out in California

San Bernardino, Calif., April 22.—As a reprisal against the closing of the Arizona to eastbound traffic, large numbers of motorists yesterday blocked the road at the Topoc Bridge, east of Needles, and refused to let westbound traffic from Arizona enter California. A telegraphic appeal for help was received by Sheriff W. A. Shay and he ordered two traffic officers to the scene. Feeling ran high between the clashing motorists.

AT FUMIGATION PLANT

Yuma, Ariz., April 22. Associated Press).—The stranded tourists' camp at Knob Siding, fourteen miles west of here, which was broken up Saturday and Sunday when Arizona temporarily lifted the embargo it had established against eastbound motor travel as a result of the foot and mouth disease in California, grew again yesterday.

Four automobile loads of travelers arrived during the day from the Imperial Valley and joined forces at the desert fumigation plant with the occupants of five other cars that had arrived Sunday after 9 a.m., the hour Arizona re-established a ban against cars from California.

The arrivals came prepared for several days' seige. In Yuma the only outward appearance of the border blockade were militiamen still patrolling the state bridge across the Colorado River and small groups of Chamber of Commerce officials gathered about the business district anxiously awaiting word from a conference in Phoenix.

A Red Cross representative arrived from Sawtelle, Calif., to give aid, but found that none was needed.

GREAT SLAUGHTER

Los Angeles, April 22.—Animals to a total of 48,796 have been destroyed since the outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in California, and an estimated appraisal of $2,034,417 has been placed upon these animals and property condemned during the process of disinfection of infected premises, according to figures compiled here by H. W. Levers, chief accountant of the State Department of Agriculture.

The report, which includes cases up to and including April 17, estimated that 378 herds had been destroyed. Of the animals killed 25,447 were cattle, 10,204 hogs, 12,635 sheep and 310 goats.

The heaviest losses were in Merced County. Up to the date of the report forty-four dairy herds had been condemned in Los Angeles County.

RAILROAD REDUCTION

Portland, Ore., April 22.—Material reductions in the working force of the Southern Pacific Company at Portland and all other divisional points in Oregon have been made and other reductions probably will have to be made, according to an announcement to-day by E. L. King, superintendent of the Oregon lines of the company, because of the noticeable dropping off of business due to the foot and mouth epizootic in California.

Benny Leonard Now Signs to be Actor

New York, April 22.—Following the example of Jack Dempsey, heavyweight champion, Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, through his manager, Billy Gibson, yesterday signed a $100,000 contract to appear in a motion picture based on the titleholder's career. Gibson said the screen agreement stipulated that the contract should in no way interfere with Leonard's pending ring engagements.

Poland Has Men In Training For Olympic Games

Warsaw, April 22.—Fifty athletes from whom the team which will represent Poland at the 1924 Olympic Games was selected, are at present in training. Poland's brightest hopes are centred in the association football competition. Next to football, the Poles expect to make the best showing in the equestrian games.

Philadelphia, Pa., April 22.—Mickey Walker, welterweight champion of the world, gained a ten-round decision over Johnny Gill of York, Pa., here last night in a hard-fought contest.

Walker had the fight his own way from the start, hitting Gill almost at will. The judges accorded the York boxer the honors in but one round. The title was not at stake. Walker weighed 146 pounds and Gill 154.

GARY DENOUNCES INQUIRIES IN U.S.

Head of U.S. Steel Corporation Scores Congress For Way it Investigates

Hoboken, N.J., April 22.—Branding Congress as "the worst thing confronting the United States" at the present time, E. H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, in an address at the stockholders' annual meeting of the corporation yesterday, sharply attacked the national legislative body for the manner in which it is conducting its investigations.

"No one can object to investigations decently and honestly conducted, but many of the investigations now in progress are unwarranted and unjustified," Mr. Gary said.

He characterized President Coolidge as a man "as strong and everlasting as the rock of Gibraltar." The President's purpose was to benefit all the people without injuring any honest men, he asserted.

Referring to the business outlook, Judge Gary said:

"Business men who canont see the sun of prosperity shining ahead are men either of poor judgment or intellect."

MINING NEWS

TRAIL SHIPMENTS

The Mountain Chief mine, New Denver, appears for the first time this year on the list of properties shipping to Trail smelter during the second week of April. It shipped ore in June for the first time last year.

The week's shippings were: Knob Hill, 110 tons; Lone Pine-Surprise-Last Chance, 113; Mountain Chief, 28; Quilp, 112; Rosebery-Surprise (lead), 60; Rosebery-Surprise (zinc), 84; Silversmith (lead), 85; Silversmith (zinc), 99; company mines, 9477. Total, 10,168.

SLOCAN DISTRICT

The Slocan mining district is improving under the influence of a heavy export demand for silver-lead-zinc ores, and some stability is given to the hopes for reasonable permanency of the very desirable situation by statements of well-known mining men who keep one eye on world markets while the other is on the mine. The demand for lead, silver and zinc has shown a tremendous increase during recent times, and encouraging to the owners of old properties is the fact that no new lead property of note has been opened up in twenty years. It is a situation that has a distinctly rosy aspect in mining circles of this district, and it should be the agency to bring mining properties of this district under investigation by mining companies in the near future.

MAMIE CLAIM

Excellent progress is being made with the long tunnel being run on the Mamie claim of the Duthie Mines, Limited. This tunnel is now in over 600 feet, and work is being carried on in the expectation that the ore will be encountered toward the end of the present month.

This tunnel is being driven considerably higher up the hill than the long tunnel started under the Duthie management, but will give 150 feet more depth than the first work undertaken on the Mamie, when a tunnel was run in about 200 feet. In the latter tunnel a winze was sunk, and with continued promising results came a decision to abandon plans for a second tunnel in favor of dropping to the site selected two years ago. Theer are now eighty men employed in the work at the mine, the greater number being occupied on the Henderson claim, where stoping continues with satisfactory results. Although the roads are not in the best of condition, about five tons of ore are being hauled down the hill daily. This is piling upon the loading platform at Smithers, and in a short time another shipment will be made to the smelter.

Willie Hunter Loses Out to Paul Hunter

Pasadena, Cal., April 22.—Dr. Paul M. Hunter of the Annandale Golf Club, won the Southern California amateur golf championship here yesterday, defeating Willie I. Hunter, 1923 titleholder 2 and 1, in the final thirty-six holes of match play. Dr. Hunter hooked the ball on several occasions, but made sensational recoveries in long putting. His afternoon play was a comeback over the morning round, which ended with Willie leading one up. The match was witnessed by a gallery estimated at more than 3,000 persons.

PICK GOOD CANDIDATES

To the Editor: — As there are rumors of an impending provincial election, the time is ripe for party politicians and the electors generally to look around for suitable candidates for parliamentary honors. Those assuming the responsibility for the nomination of candidates, whether political parties or other groups of individuals should see to it that only the best men be placed in nomination. The mere fact that a man has worked for a party does not ensure that he is always a fit person to participate in the government of our Province. Neither should the fact that a man who can command a considerable vote from any religious, military or other organization weigh in the choice.

Let us have men of ability, honesty and integrity who have proved themselves capable in their business or professional life and who have no past political or other sins of which to be ashamed. Above all let us have young men. Our Province is a young province and with a fair sprinkling of aggressive young men in our legislature perhaps we may make better progress in the future than we have done in the past. In the professional and business life of the city we have many young fellows who are showing their mettle and are the sort of men we need. Let us have a few names of likely young business and professional men who are "go-getters" and who can acquit themselves creditably as speakers and we will be sure of having good men in the field when the election comes along.

IS THE FARMER A SHIRKER?

To the Editor:—There is one flagrant piece of misrepresentation which serves as the key to much of the protectionist propaganda now being let loose all over the country. It found expression in a recent speech by Senator David, who referring to the Canadian farmers, said:

"The fact that they escape almost totally the tax on revenue shows that, if the customs duties were abolished, they would really contribute practically nothing to the cost of administration of the country or to the payment of our debt."

As to the farmers "escaping" the tax on revenue, this form of taxation is really a tax upon the rich. Since our protectionists take very good care that farmers have little chance of becoming rich, they can hardly be blamed for not paying the rich man's tax.

The chief absurdity of Senator David's argument, however, lies in its assumption that farmers or their friends are looking for the total abolition of customs duties. No free trade country has ever abolished customs duties, and if Canada were to become a free trade country next year, it is fairly certain that a large proportion of her revenue would continue to be raised through the customs. But what many of our protectionists know perfectly well though they never admit it, is this: that under a system of free trade, we could do away with at least ninety per cent of our existing customs duties, and raise as much or more revenue from the remaining ten per cent. In other words, a few taxes under free trade will give the country bigger returns than a large number of taxes under protection. That is abundantly proved by the economic stability of Great Britain, the result of her long experience of free trade.

Farmers do not claim to be more patriotic than anybody else, though one may remark that the war-time record of the prairie provinces was magnificent. They do not wish to shirk payments of their share of the cost of running the country. Where the proceeds of a customs tax go to the national exchequer, they will pay that tax willingly and even cheerfully. But they object to the constant multiplication of taxes which they must pay, in order that the proceeds may go, not to the government, but to eastern capitalists, and very often American capitalists at that. And our protectionist senators and others may as well set their houses in order for a change in these matters. Because a change is coming.

EXPENDITURES OF IRISH FREE STATE ARE CUT DOWN

Dublin, April 22.—Economies totaling £13,877,026 are provided in the detailed budget estimates to be submitted to the Dail when it meets next Friday. Of this sum £7,320,316 is cut from the army estimates, partly due to the demobilization, partly by drastic reductions in the payrool, and partly by pruning the allowances to the dependents of soldiers. Education will receive £3,000,000 less, and the old age pensions are reduced by £357,800.

The property losses caused by damage during the fighting it is proposed this year will cost £3,000,000 less than last. Of this sum £2,500,000 is due to reduction in cost of the losses suffered before the truce.

After the last loan of £10,000,000 was successfully floated the Ministry announced that a further loan would be called for this Spring, but it is now believed the reduction in expenditure will enable postponement of this measure until the Spring of next year.

It is declared likely this loan will be the last floated, and every effort will be made to complete its subscription within the country.

Starved Hearts

A SERIAL STORY

By MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER LII
A DOOR CLOSES

Madelon re-read Barbara's last letter to her, while her heart sank lower and lower in her breast.

In one sweep, the fabric of her future was shattered. For Barbara had asked, indeed had pleaded, that Madelon undertake the upbringing of her child.

She felt prescience of evil, Barbara wrote. She feared that something would happen to her and leave the child, Stephen Junior, to the grim mercy of his father.

"Save him," she had written, "save him from the stern, relentless will by which you and I have both suffered. I am not strong enough to do it. Day by day, I have seen him slipping away from my influence. I have seen him cringing to Stephen's will, as I have cringed. And it must not be! You are strong enough to withstand him. You proved that when you married. Use your splendid strength now for my son. . . . Perhaps I have no right to ask this of you. Indeed, I believe that I have not. But once you told me that, since your one real love was denied you, you would live vicariously through the happiness of others. As Ann so often says, we belong to the company of starved hearts, you and I. We stand helplessly by the wayside and watch the procession of life go by. . . . I am tired, Madelon, so tired. Let me sleep with the comforting knowledge that my boy is in your keeping. . . . He is so happy, so sweet and generous. I want him to remain so. I want him to have his childhood, to play in the sunshine. Don't—oh, I beg of you—don't let Stephen crush every human, natural impulse out of him."

Madelon folded the letter gravely and thrust it back into its envelope.

She could fairly feel the darkening of her sky, could sense the receding sunlight. She could hear the closing of the door that led to freedom. She shivered in the chill.

It was impossible to ignore this plea from the dead. She had loved Barbara, and Barbara had suffered many times for her when her open championship had brought down Stephen Lane's wrath upon her head.

She could not, with ease to her own heart and conscience, refuse the thing Barbara had asked of her. . . . She recalled a night far back in the past when she and Barbara had made a pact, when she had promised the lovely, unhappy creature that she would not fail her, if ever the need of her arose.

She must make good that promise now. . . . Once again, she must become Lane's chattel that the young Stephen might have freedom. Once again, she must bow her head to the yoke of his indomitable will. And this time there would be no escape. Until Stephen Junior was grown to manhood, perhaps, she was bound to servitude.

The sacrifice would be all the greater after her taste of freedom. The bars would be all the more irksome to wings that had once flashed joyously in the morning sun.

She went to Ann for consolation.

"You will be doing a really noble thing," Ann told her, when she had listened gravely. "There cannot be but recompense for such unselfishness. 'After sacrifice comes the blessing of the gods,' remember. You may find happiness in service."

"It seems that I shall never find it elsewhere. I was content in Boston with Mme. Guilbert, but there was something lacking. Ah well, what does it matter now? It is all too late."

When Lane returned home that evening, Madelon told him that she would remain. She made no mention of the letter from Barbara. He believed that she had yielded for his sake solely, and so accustomed was he to his own way that he exhibited no slightest gratitude.

That night after dinner, they sat before the fire in the library. There was still sufficient chill in the late Spring air to make the warmth from the crackling logs agreeable.

Stephen Junior, who had been too restless to sleep, so that Madelon asked that he be brought in to her to see if she could soothe him, drowsed in her arms, his cheek rested against her breast.

She looked from him to his father, who sat, grim, silent, immobile, in the chair opposite.

Was this to be her Destiny? To sit before another's fire, to hold another's child in her arms?

Did life hold no niche for her, no home that would be all her own, no heart that would quicken to her step, no child that would hold out tiny loving arms?

Was this all there would ever be to existence? . . . She had asked that of Heaven one black night in Honolulu. She asked it again out of the barrenness of her hope.

CHAPTER LIII
A NEWSPAPER CUT

"Ma petite, ma pauvre bebe," sighed Mme. Guilbert, when Madelon had told her that she must leave the school and all her happy surroundings, "you will not be happy, I feel it! This bete, this guardian of yours, he has a hard heart. He will ruin your life."

"I must do it for Barbara's sake," Madelon persisted. "But, oh, it will be hard!"

"And what will Andre do?" sighed the Frenchwoman. "He will be desolate. There are others, too, who will carry the broken heart," she added shrewdly. "Ah, you need not blush, cherie! Guilbert, she is not blind. . . . And why should the young men not pine? You are young and lovely. It is wicked that you should withdraw from the world like the good nuns. Why do you not marry Andre?"

Madelon shook her head.

Never without love. . . . And you know where my heart is."

Mme. Guilbert shrugged.

"It is strange for one so young to be so constant. . . . Eh bien, it is beautiful also! But alas, poor Andre!"

Madelon found it hard to say farewell to the young Frenchman. He was very attractive and very much in love. He implored her to marry him, not to persist in her sacrifice.

It was the last night of her stay in the little apartment where she had been so happy. The place was stripped of all her pretty tasteful furnishings. The furniture was crated, ready for shipment. Draperies had been taken down and stored away with linens and pictures in huge packing boxes.

Madelon had laughingly offered one of these latter in lieu of a chair to Beauchamp, and they sat thus, swinging their feet in the ruins of her home.

She felt it to be the saddest night of her life.

On one side Youth and Love and Happiness held out its hand, beckoned her to a future of sunshine and laughter.

On the other, yawned the door to Stephen Lane's home. Beyond that door lay bondage. No faintest ray of hope shone from it. She could fairly feel its darkness and its chill. She could see herself going down the corridor of years, as she would soon go down its dark halls—fearful, alone, a little older day by day, her heart a little emptier.

Before temptation could assail her, she conjured up a vision of Barbara, Barbara, like a sweet, anxious spirit, hovering above her, watching with eyes that pleaded.

She sent Beauchamp away.

He pressed his lips to her soft palms.

"Until we meet again," he said. "It will be soon. It must be soon."

The following afternoon, she stood in the doorway of her stripped apartment and looked back through the vista of rooms. The crated furniture had been removed. Not a scrap of paper remained to testify to her former occupancy. The sunlight streamed in through curtainless windows and cut a pathway across the empty polished floor. The fireplace was swept clean of its ashes.

Tears blurred Madelon's vision.

"How foolish I am!" she told herself, as she brushed them away with her gloved hand; but nevertheless, "Good bye," she whispered softly, "good bye, little home! I hope you will bring happiness to the next owner as you brought it to me. I hope they find the little god of contentment perching above the fireplace, for I know that I am leaving him behind.

Ann met her at the station on her arrival the next morning.

"I'm taking you up to my apartment for lunch," she said after her cheerful greeting. "It'll break the sharp contrast between your own place and Stephen's gloomy cave."

"By the way, I've got something to show you," she remarked after luncheon, leading the way to her cheerful sitting-room.

She picked up a newspaper from the table and handed it to Madelon.

It was a London paper, Madelon noted.

Then, her heart almost stopped beating at sight of the familiar features that stared up at her from the printed page.

Uncle Wiggily and Johnnie's Skates

Copyright, 1924, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate

(By Howard R. Garis)

Out in front of Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow Wednesday morning Johnnie Bushytail, one of the squirrel boys, was gliding about on his roller skates. Johnnie was doing some fancy skating, for he was very clever on his feet, was Johnnie Bushytail.

"Who-oo! Uncle Wiggily! Come on out!" chattered Johnnie, after a while. "Whoo-oo! Uncle Wiggily!"

"Johnnie, run away! Skate on to school like a good boy!" begged Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, opening the door.

"Can't Uncle Wiggily come out?" asked the squirrel boy.

"Not while you're here," answered the muskrat lady housekeeper. "If you want him to go to school with you while you're on your roller skates something will surely happen. You'll bump into Mrs. Flufftail, the sheep lady, or run over Uncle Butter, the goat. Run along to school, like a good squirrel, Johnnie."

Johnnie looked disappointed, but he was about to skate on when he said:

"I don't want Uncle Wiggily to go to school with me, it's lots too early to go to school. I just came over to show him my new roller skates."

'Look!' chattered Johnnie.

"Oh, if you just want to show them to him and don't want him to go with you—that's all right," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

By that time Uncle Wiggily had finished his breakfast and was out on the front steps.

"Look!" chattered Johnnie, gliding about on his skates. "Look, Uncle Wiggily!"

"Say! They're fine, and you're quite a skater!" laughed the bunny gentleman. "Can you do any other tricks?"

"Watch me skate backward!" chattered Johnnie, and that's just what he did.

By this time Nurse Jane had gone back inside the hollow stump bungalow to wash the dishes. She looked at the clock and saw, as Johnnie had said that it was too early for the little squirrel boy to go to the hollow stump school.

"When it's half past eight I'll tell him to go," said Nurse Jane to herself.

Meanwhile Uncle Wiggily, sitting on the steps, was watching Johnnie glide about the sidewalk, doing all sorts of tricks. At last, after having skated on one toe, Johnnie glided up to Uncle Wiggily and whispered:

"Wouldn't you like to try my skates a little while?"

"Oh, I can't roller skate! I'm too old!" exclaimed the rabbit gentleman. "Besides Nurse Jane——"

"Come around to the side where she can't see you," whispered Johnnie. "I'll show you how to skate. There's lots of time before school."

Uncle Wiggily listened to Nurse Jane rattling the dishes. He wanted very much to try Johnnie's new and shining skates. Besides, though he said he was too old, Mr. Longears didn't really believe so himself. Secretly he thought he could skate almost as well as the little squirrel boy.

"All right," said the bunny gentleman, after a twinkle or two of his pink nose. "I'll try it. But don't laugh at me, Johnnie, if I fall down."

"I won't," promised Johnnie. Though Mr. Longears thought to himself that he wasn't going to fall down.

But he did! No sooner had he put on Johnnie's skates than his feet slid from under him, and down he fell, ker-floppy!

"Ah-hick! Ah-heck! Ah-hoo!" exclaimed Johnnie. And then, as he saw Uncle Wiggily looking at him, from where the rabbit gentleman had sat down, very hard, on the ground, the squirrel boy said: "I wasn't laughing at you, Uncle Wiggily, I was just—ah—coughing."

"All right," said Mr. Longears, after thinking it over. "I just slipped a little, Johnnie. We'll try it again. I shall soon get used to these skates."

"Of course you will!" Johnnie chattered. But the more Uncle Wiggily tried to stand up the more he fell down, his feet flopping out from under him frontward and backward.

"I guess I cant' do it, Johnnie," sighed the bunny at last. "I am too old! I'm too old to roller-skate!"

"Of course you are! Ha! Ha! I could have told you that" barked a cruel and savage voice from behind the bushes. "You are too old to skate, but you aren't too old for me to carry you off to my den! Here I come for you!"

Out popped the Wolf, but before he could jump on the rabbit, Uncle Wiggily took one step on the roller skates. Out flew his paws, and with both feet, on which were fastened the heavy skates, Uncle Wiggily struck the Wolf in the head. Down fell the rabbit, and down fell the Wolf. Uncle Wiggily wasn't hurt at all, but the Wolf had a very sore head.

"Ouch!" howled the Wolf. "Ouchie ouch! I guess I won't take you off to my den now, Uncle Wiggily. I'll have to go see a doctor!"

And away trotted the bad chap, holding one paw on his sore head.

"There! I've skated enough, Johnnie," laughed the rabbit. "I'm glad you came along. Now run along to school." And taking off the skates which he gave to the squirrel boy, the bunny hopped into his bungalow.

So this teaches us when we have done a good thing it is time to stop for a while. And if the newsboy doesn't eat molasses taffy and stick his papers together so tightly that it takes a corkscrew to pull them apart, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Billie's marbles.

Try Her Way

The way millions now employ to fight film on teeth

Try the method which is bringing the prettier teeth you see.

It is the modern method of teeth cleaning. Millions now employ it. The results are seen in every circle, in those whiter, cleaner teeth.

It means new beauty, new cleanliness, new charm. Let this test prove that to you.

Why teeth decay and discolor

You feel on teeth a viscous film. Much of it clings and stays. No ordinary tooth paste can effectively combat it.

Food stains, etc., discolor it, so it forms dingy coats. That is why so many teeth are clouded.

Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Very few escaped these troubles under old ways of tooth brushing. Just because they did not combat that film.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Science has in late years found effective film combatants. One disintegrates the film at all stages of formation. One removes it without harmful scouring.

Able authorities have proved these methods effective. A new-type tooth paste has been created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Leading dentists the world over began to urge this method. Now careful people of some 50 nations employ it in their homes.

No one can doubt the results

The results are quick and convincing. And they are necessary. Pepsodent multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize mouth acids. It multiplies the ptyalin in saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits on teeth.

These combined results bring one quickly a new conception of what clean teeth mean.

Send the coupon for a 10-Day Tube. Note how clean the teeth feel after using. Mark the absence of the viscous film. See how teeth become whiter as the film-coats disappear.

Then decide if your home should adopt this modern method. Cut out coupon now.

TURNING PLAYGOERS BACK TO CLASSICS

Sir John Martin-Harvey Gives Some Impressions of His Art

"Oedipus Rex" is One of the Greatest Revivals of Modern Times

The art of the actor is a progressive one, a striving after that elusive ideal that is just a step beyond the grasp. Such is Sir John Martin-Harvey's view, as explained in a chat with The Times on his arrival here yesterday afternoon to commence a week's engagement. He, while paying tribute to those popular favorites in which he has been acclaimed for so many years, desires to direct the public attention to the classic selections from the best of the Athenian and the Elizabethan stages, which while they may not be reflected most encouragingly in box office receipts, yet point the upward movement in dramatic art.

That Shakespeare presents possibilities which three centuries of stage and scholarship have failed to exhaust, that the Greek drama which Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripedes raised to an immortal pedestal can be rendered as attractive to the twentieth century as they were to the thousands who thronged the festivals in the open air at Athens twenty-five centuries ago, these are arguments he presents in urging playgoers not to stay away because in common expression they are "highbrow."

After a wonderful season in Western Canada he declares that the public is responsive to creative art on the stage, that polished production is appreciated. The tour has been a very arduous one, and will be brought to a close in Vancouver, except for another three days in Winnipeg, which really is a second extension of the time there, as the company played a third week in the prairie capital on its way West.

"OEDIPUS REX"

The genesis of the production of the "Oedipus Rex" on the English stage, a play which Sir John calls "The greatest melodrama in history," and in which after winning the plaudits of the Old Country he repeated to the most critical audiences in the United States, goes back many years.

"In fact" said the actor-manager, "I planned to do something with it from school days. Productions in Vienna and Frankfort had been made some years before the war in the German tongue. When I decided to introduce it to London I went to Frankfort, and saw that it had remarkable possibilities for the stage. The text of Professor Gilbert Murray, of Oxford University," supplied us with the drama in English—a play easily the finest example of dramatic concentration, and tragic intensity of Sophocles, and that is the text I recommend to students. Max Reinhardt, known to English playgoers for "The Miracle," the "Oedipus Rex," and "Sumurun" was associated in the first English production, and the presentation in London proved to be one of the most notable events of the theatrical world. The first night audiences were representative of the leading people in every walk of life in the metropolis. From that time there has been a steady improvement in the production, in technical detail and in adopting the conditions of the Greek theatre to modern conditions.

"Possessing all the essentials of action, and time and place considered compulsory to the Athenian stage, it carries itself forward to the climax in a way unrivalled in modern drama. People have been so thrilled by the presentation that frequently cases of fainting are reported in the theatre, and there is nothing known to modern dramatic art where the attention of the spectator is held as in this wonderful play."

TRUE TO LIFE

Sir John explained that every attempt had been made to secure the so called "dances," and the music true to the conditions of the Greek stage in the fifth century before Christ. The information gleaned by his son from the Greek vases in the British museum had been carefully incorporated, while the music was based on records preserved in the museum from centemporary writers. He expressed the opinion that the music he uses was much more truly representative of the Athenian stage than was the product ten years before in German speaking countries. When he produced it in London it had not been played for 200 years, since Thomas Betterton appeared in a translation by Dryden, and the Oedipus Rex was a lost play so far as the British public was concerned. One thing, he says, which contributed also to its great success, was the remarkable announcement that it would be banned by the censor, a threat which failed to materialize, but which naturally attracted a large amount of attention.

While the chorus are members of his company, Sir John relies on local talent for the Thebian crowd, who in many cities have been drawn from university students' both in the United States and Canada, we are only too glad to assist, it being so valuable to aid their practical knowledge of the classics.

SHAKESPEAREAN REVIVALS

"Why is it that people as a rule no longer go to see Shakespearean plays?" Sir John was asked.

"The reason is that they are tired of indifferent productions, and of the Shakespearean presentation along formal and conventional lines," he replied.

"If you would retain public interest in the greatest of British dramatists you must give them a new interpretation. It requires study, application, inspiration and concentration. I have given to 'Hamlet' over twenty years of study, and feel that every year some new thought, some new aspect of the character can be given which adds to the finished picture. People have said to me, after I last produced it in London, that they came away from the theatre with a new revelation of the role, men who had seen all the greatest actors of this generation in the title part. Some actors have given an archaeological background, others a metaphysical tinge to the part, but I think people will say after they have seen me that I have created a new 'Hamlet,' something different from my predecessors and contemporaries."

"In 'The Taming of the Shrew' I have endeavored, on the other hand, to make a riotous comedy of the play. People come away from it after laughter such as would accompany a modern farce. I should have liked to have played it here, but something had to go, and it was a choice between the Greek play and this Shakespearean comedy. In Victoria you have an educated public, and I decided on the greatest tragedy of the Greek poet, perhaps best suited to the character of the audience."

MODERN DRAMA

Sir John places Maeterlinck's "The Burgomaster of Stilemonde" among the great modern plays in which he has appeared. He says he appreciates the part of the victim of German "kultur" as much perhaps as any, except his wonderful creation in "The Only Way."

"I am not one of those actors with partialities," he answered in response to a question what was his favorite part. "I think the actor should be able to present a number of temperamental characterizations. It is good for him as well as for his audiences, and results in sustaining the high standard of the stage.

"Some of the old favorites in which I am appearing are plays which the public look for me to use. There has been general regret that I have not played 'The Only Way' on this tour, but something had to be left out, and it was necessary to make a choice. Perhaps we shall go back to it, probably all the better for the rest."

Sir John carries a company of thirty-five persons, apart from the supernumeraries used in crowd scenes, who are engaged locally.

HINCHLIFFE WARNS CONSERVATIVES OF DIFFICULT FIGHT

Must Work Hard to be Successful at Next Election, He Admits

The Conservative Party will have to work hard if it is to be successful at the next provincial election, Joshua Hinchliffe, M.P.P. for Victoria, told a meeting of the Ward Three Liberal-Conservative Association in the Conservative headquarters, Campbell Building, last night.

If the Provincial Party, as it asserted, wanted to clean up politics in this Province it could best do so by working within the Conservative ranks instead of forming a new political organization, Mr. Hinchliffe declared.

Gus Lyons, president of the Victoria Liberal-Conservative Association, spoke briefly.

Two lectures on "The Great Pyramid and the Sings of the Times," prophecy revealed, will be given in the Reformed Episcopal Church on Thursday and Friday next, at 8 o'clock. Rev. F. C. Chapman will preside.

DOG'S INTELLIGENCE SAVES MAN'S LIFE

Gave Warning to Approaching Motorist of Pending Danger

A remarkable story of the intelligence of a dog, which probably saved a man's life, is told in the last issue of The Penticton Herald by C. S. Sharp, who was driving recently near Westbank.

Mr. Sharp says that as he was approaching a very narrow section of the road, which he saw had been badly cut up in some way, a yellow dog ran toward his car and started barking. He slowed down to pass the bad piece of road and when just on the edge of the loose gravel and rocks, noticed the dog give one last howl and run back to the place from which he had come.

This roused a suspicion in his mind. Mr. Sharp said, and he threw his clutch into reverse. Before he had backed more than five feet a heavy log rolled down the steep bank at the side of the road, coming from over 100 feet above him, missed both his car and the dog by something less than six feet, rolled across the road and plunged over the bank, falling into the lake some 160 feet below.

But for the action of the dog, Mr. Sharp declared, his car would have doubtless been caught by the log and carried over the bank. He maintains the dog saved both his life and his car.

It transpired later than logging operations were in hand on the hillside above.

TO SHED LIGHT ON HISTORY OF CANADA

Sir Campbell Stuart in Dominion From London to Further Societies' Work

Toronto, April 22. — Hon. G. H. Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, last night entertained at dinner Sir Campbell Stuart, managing director of the London Times, who is visiting Canada especially to interest influential Canadians in a group of historical societies that have been in process of formation, of which he himself has been chief promoter.

The object is to conserve and to assemble in convenient places records an documents regarding the history of Canada to be obtained in England, France and Canada. The intention is to obtain from heirs of men who have taken a large part in Canadian history material from which to form biographical sketches which would be available for library and educational purposes.

In France already much material has been obtained from the heirs of men who were governors and officers of New France. This material is being translated into English. In Britain, from the families possessing records of the early administrators, such as Dorchester, Elgin and Durham, similar material is being obtained by the English branch of the society, and volumes will be published shortly dealing biographically with the early administration of the country.

Sir Campbell Stuart hopes to organize societies in Canada similar to those in Great Britain and France.

THIRD DELORME TRIAL IN MAY

Montreal, April 22.—Mr. Justice Mercier of the Superior Court will preside at the third King's Bench trial of Rev. Adelard Delorme on the charge of having killed his half-brother, Raoul Delorme, according to reports current in court circles here. The trial is scheduled for the term of the King's Bench opening May 10.

It is understood a great effort will be made by the defence to secure a ruling that trial on the merits of the murder charge is impossible until a jury either removes or maintains the verdict of July, 1922, to the effect that Delorme is not in a mental condition to stand trial.

Importance is attached to the proceedings as some eminent counsel hold that, in the event of Delorme being found guilty of murder without the 1922 verdict that he is "mentally incapable to stand trial" being removed from the crown books, successful appeal against the condemnation of the accused would be assured.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT STAND

Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well and Strong

Glens Falls, N. Y.—"For over two months I was so sick I was not able to stand on my feet, and my husband did my housework. The doctor said an operation might be necessary. I read testimonial letters about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and began to take it. Before I had finished taking the first bottle I saw what good it was doing me. I am now well and strong, doing all my work for a family of four, all my washing and my sewing, which I think is remarkable, as I had not dared to run my sewing machine, but had done all my sewing by hand. I truly feel that were it not for your medicine I would not be here today as my case seemed very serious."—Mrs. GEORGE W. BURCHELL, Glens Falls, N.Y.

Wrinkles Removed "While You Wait"

It has been discovered that the mere application of a spoonful of powdered tarkroot mixed with a spoonful of lemon juice, actually removes wrinkles and creases in fifteen minutes or less! There's no rubbing, no work, and the expense is trifling—less than three cents! It is only necessary to spread the mixture over the face, sit down before the mirror, and watch those unwelcome marks of age, illness or worry disappear like magic. The effect is incomparably better than that produced by the most skillful massaging.

The mixture of course is perfectly harmless. While on the face a pleasant soothing sensation is experienced. It is easily washed off. Aside from its remarkable effect on wrinkles, there's nothing better for baggy cheeks or chin. Ne woman who purchases a package of powdered tarkroot from her druggist will regret having done so. Notice to Breeders of Livestock

Mr. Erick Bowman, the discoverer of The Bowman Remedy, claims that in treating 70,000 cattle in the United States the results have been successful in 98% of the cases treated.

Are your dairy cows and heifers causing you trouble?

Are you obtaining results in calves and milk that satisfy you?

Do your cows (according to your knowledge of their capacity) produce as much milk as they should—or are you marking time and feeding a number of boarders that should be sent to the butcher?

These are matters that can be put right. Delays are fatal. Why not consult
